Sandstorm, heavy security mark Holy Land rites

JERUSALEM (AP) — Thousands of Christian pilgrims carried heavy crosses through a sand storm today in the annual Good Friday procession to Calvary.

Jewish soldiers with assault rifles watched from the rooftops and patroled the streets as the procession followed the Way of the Cross through the narrow alleyways of the Via Dolorosa.

Security precautions were the heaviest in years because of recent Arab rioting against Israeli occupation of East Jerusalem and the adjacent West Bank territory captured from Jordan in the 1967 war. No major disturbances have been reported for two weeks, however, and no incidents disrupted the procession.

Led by brown-robed monks and prelates in crimson and white, groups of pilgrims sang hymns and prayed at the 14 Stations of the Cross before entering the vast vaults of the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, on the traditional site of Crucifixion.

Yellowish clouds of sand blowing in from the desert cast a powdery haze over the walled city of Old Jerusalem. Some of the pilgrims held up handkerchiefs to protect their faces against the sting of the sand.

The cold, blustery wind heavy with dust recalled to Christian scholars the climate of the first Good Friday. They cited the words of Luke: "And there was darkness over the whole land ... while the sun's light faded and the veil of the Temple was rent in the midst. Then Jesus crying in a loud voice said, 'Father, into Thy hands I commit my spirit.'"

Israelis since sunset Wednesday have been observing Passover, the week-long Jewish festival celebrating the flight of the Israelites from Egypt.

Rabbi Levi Yitzhak Raninowitz said the Old Testament also told of unseasonal hail, frost and darkness recurring repeatedly before the first Passover. He said the weather omens appeared to be connected with the 10 plagues visited upon the Egyptians before the exodus of the Jews.

The weather closed two of Israel's internal airfields, but Ben-Gurion International Airport remained open to the major international airlines. They brought 2,000 more Christians and Jews this morning.

Sixty-five thousand visitors have jammed hotels in the last three weeks, giving a needed boost to Israel's tourist industry after a three-year slump.

Connally to replace Kissinger if Ford's elected?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Ford plans to name John B. Connally secretary of state to replace Henry Kissinger if Ford is elected in November, sources in Houston told a Los Angeles paper.

The former Texas governor in return would campaign for Ford, assuming he is the Republican presidential nominee, as he did for Richard M. Nixon in 1972, sources close to Connally said.

Ford has met twice in recent weeks with Connally, who was secretary of the Treasury in 1971-72.

In a report published today, the paper said the sources explained that foreign policy would be a major issue in the fall campaign and that Kissinger would become a political liability.

"Connally, with his impeccable, hard-nosed credibility on foreign affairs," would be much more acceptable to the public, said a source close to Connally.

The U.S. criminal code prohibits candidates from promising appointments in return for support, but the law is unclear on whether it applies to non-Civil Service jobs. A spokesman for the Federal Election Commission said he knew of no case where the law had been invoked.

One source said that Ford would make it clear during the campaign that Connally would be his secretary of state if he was elected and "it could be enough to turn the election."

There was no immediate comment from Ford or Connally on the report.

13 men perish as survival capsule overturns at sea

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Thirteen men who scrambled into a saucer-like survival capsule before an oil drilling platform sank in the wind-whipped Gulf of Mexico died later when the capsule capsized, the Coast Guard said.

Two Navy scuba divers swam to the hatch of the fiberglass capsule saw bodies in the flooded interior of the overturned capsule, Coast Guard public relations officer Dave Schipra said in New Orleans. He said there were no survivors.

The men were from the 35-man crew of the Ocean Express drilling barge. Officials said the others survived. The drilling platform sank in 15-foot seas lashed by 50-mile-per-hour winds Thursday night.

The divers made the grim discovery as several tugs and larger craft, including the Navy's aircraft carrier Lexington, stood by after a night of futile rescue efforts.

The covered survival capsule was 18 feet in diameter.

The Coast Guard had initi ally said there were 14 men trapped in the capsule but revised the count downward by one after a check with survivors who had abandoned the drilling platform minutes before it went down 40 miles east of Corpus Christi. The big rig sank about 9:30 p.m. Thursday.

The heavy seas had stalled attempts to reach the trapped men for hours, bouncing the capsule around like a top in the raging sea. Lines fixed to the device broke as attempts were made to right the capsule, which was floating with its entranceway facing into the sea.

Rescue authorities said 17 men left the platform in one survival capsule, bobbed about for a time in the water and were hoisted aboard one of the tugs which hustled alongside.

These men reported there were 20 aboard a second capsule and that seven escaped before it flipped over, trapping the others inside. Tugs took the seven aboard, all apparently bruised but not injured seriously.

It was more than six hours afterward before a diver could swim underneath long enough to discover that the hatch of that capsule was open and there was water inside. The bodies were discovered later.

It was not known whether it would be possible to recover the bodies or how that would be accomplished as the capsule bobbed low in the water.

The Coast Guard said the captain of the Ocean Express, who was not identified, had stayed behind Thursday night to cut the two capsules of crewmen free from the rig. They said a helicopter plucked the captain to safety moments before the platform went to the bottom. He was taken to a naval medical center here.

Arrangements were made for his crew to go ashore at other points.

Ocean Drilling & Exploration Co. of New Orleans owned the rig. It was being operated under lease by Marathon Oil Co. of nearby Rockport, Tex.

A spokesman for Ocean Drilling said the barge was being moved from one drilling spot to another when it sank.

Ex-top aide: Hughes made will about '55

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Howard Hughes apparently intending to leave his fortune to a medical foundation wrote a will around 1955 and put it in a Hollywood safe deposit box, his former top aide says.

"That ... will is in existence," said Noah Dietrich, who left Hughes' employment in 1957 after 35 years' service. "I don't know what happened to it. I don't trust some of these people at the Hughes organization."

So far, Hughes spokesmen say, no will has been located, but the search goes on. An elderly aunt and her son were named temporary administrators of his estate — estimated to be worth $2 billion or more — on Wednesday.

Dietrich said Thursday that Hughes wrote the will himself, basing part of it on sample paragraphs prepared by his attorneys.

"About 1955, he made out the will," Dietrich recalled. "It was a long intricate process he went into.

"There were five alternate pages for every page. He selected the final ones he wanted to use, stapled a blue back on them, sealed them in an envelope and gave it to Nadine Henley."

Mrs. Henley is an officer of the Summa Corp., the holding company for Hughes' vast enterprises, and was a trusted associate of Hughes. She could not be reached for comment.

"I was present when it was signed," Dietrich said. "I did not sign it, but we had discussions about it.

"It was the only will in existence as far as I know. It was his intention to leave his entire estate to the Howard Hughes Medical Foundation in Miami."

Dietrich said Hughes gave the will to Mrs. Henley and "told her to put it in a safety deposit box at the South Hollywood Bank of America and give him the keys."

Dietrich, 87, said Hughes had a reputation for indecisiveness, but that he has no doubt Hughes left a will.

CRASH SCENE

The wreckage of a chartered twin-engine plane is scattered over the mountains near Palm Desert after it crashed late Thursday, killing all six persons aboard. The Riverside County Sheriff's Department said the plane crashed during conditions of low visibility and rain on a flight from San Diego County to Palm Springs.

Wife almost killed

Ex-Navy officer kills self after slaying 2 daughters

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Police say a retired Navy commander, called "a quiet man" by his minister, took his own life with a paring knife after apparently beating two of his daughters to death and nearly killing his wife.

Victims of the tragedy were identified as Norris O. Anderson, 48, and his daughters, Kay, 19, and Sarah, 18. Anderson's wife, Martha, 47, was reported in critical condition Thursday in a Norfolk hospital.

Another daughter was away at school.

Mrs. Anderson underwent surgery Wednesday night for a skull fracture and a broken jaw, and police said they weren't sure when they would be able to talk to her about the incident.

Police said Anderson apparently beat the two teen-agers and his wife while they slept, then killed himself. The violence at the Anderson home in Cape Henry Shores, an affluent suburban area on the Atlantic, weren't discovered until Wednesday afternoon.

Neighbors were quoted by police as saying Anderson apparently had financial difficulties after retiring, partly because all three daughters were in college.

The sisters had been dead about 24 hours when their bodies were found by Kay's boy friend, who entered the house through a window after repeated phone calls went unanswered, police said.

Authorities said all the women, apparently struck on the head with a 10-pound hammer, were found in their beds with blankets pulled up to their necks.

Police said the body of Anderson, a stab wound in his abdomen and his neck slashed, was found in a bathroom with the paring knife still clenched in his right hand. Police said he might have bled to death.

Police said the couple's third daughter, Christine, 21, is a student at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, Va., and was there at the time of the killings.

Anderson, a 1951 Naval Academy graduate, spent most of his time while an officer as a pilot and aeronautical engineer before he retired last September.

Weather

Fair through Saturday, occasional clouds Sunday, with warmer temperatures. High today 59, low tonight 42, high Saturday 66. The high Thursday was 57 and the overnight low was 39. Saturday's sunrise 5:18, sunset 6:24.

Weather, fatalities marring holiday

Fair weather with occasional cloudiness is predicted for the Easter weekend in the wake of a storm Thursday that dropped up to a quarter-inch of rain on the valley.

The weatherman said he was tracking a storm front from the north which was moving toward Southern California. But gusty winds this morning were pushing the front eastward, and there was a good chance it would bypass the area.

The winds, measured at up to 35 miles an hour, cleared the skies of most cloud formations by the morning. However, with the exception of some minor power failures, they caused little damage to the valley.

Other areas of the Southland were not as lucky. Winds of gale proportions were blamed for the crash of a small plane that killed six persons south of Palm Springs, and for playing havoc with a pleasure cruiser with six persons aboard. The cruiser was reported lost at sea this morning.

With fair and warmer weather predicted for Sunday, civic and religious organizations throughout the Southland were going ahead with preparation of Easter activities.

Numerous Easter sunrise services are planned throughout the area starting at about 5:15 a.m. Sunday. Virtually all churches have scheduled services to commemorate the resurrection of Jesus. And most local communities were offering Easter egg hunts.

The sunrise services will be held under warmer skies than those of the past two days.

The weatherman predicted that the temperature would rise about eight degrees Saturday, going from a low of 57 degrees to a high of 66.

And the wind which was the core of the storm, will subside by this evening.

More than 6,000 minor power outages were reported in the Los Angeles area, from the San Gabriel Valley to the coast. Hardest hit were the Long Beach and Compton areas where service remained out well into the morning, authorities said..

The wind-whipped seas prompted many boating emergencies, as swells up to 10 feet swamped some smaller craft and left others struggling for shore.

The U.S. Coast Guard said they were searching for the 22-foot cabin cruiser "Sure Bet," which had not been heard from since transmitting a "May-Day" message off Santa Barbara. There were six persons aboard, the Coast Guard reported.

Winds up to 60 miles per hour lashed at motorists along Interstate Routes 5, 15 and 10, causing some minor accidents and leading to the temporary closing of those highways. All highways were later opened, but travelers advisories remained in effect, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Mountain areas were hit by winds up to 100 miles per hour, closing ski lifts in the resort areas, officials reported. Heavy snows were reported in the Sierra Nevada and San Bernardino Mountains.

Patty Hearst suffering from malnutrition, lung blister

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Patricia Hearst is suffering from malnutrition and may eventually have to undergo additional surgery to remove an air-filled blister on her right lung, a doctor says.

The 90-pound prisoner, on a high-protein diet to build up her weight, is making satisfactory progress after suffering a collapsed lung, Dr. Donald Rowles said Thursday. Her condition remains fair.

But he said the 22-year-old woman was still experiencing discomfort and that the blister — medically known as a bleb — could rupture again and cause the right lung to collapse for a second time.

"There is a chance for eventual surgery to remove it," Rowles said. "But it could spontaneously heal."

The blister caused the lung to collapse Tuesday evening, when the convicted bank robber was rushed from her jail cell to Sequoia Hospital for minor surgery, Rowles said.

X-rays revealed the bleb Thursday morning. It is about the size of a silver dollar — "larger than is normally seen," Rowles said.

A special chest tube is pumping air out of the chest cavity so the damaged lung will stay inflated, Rowles said.

Blood tests also have indicated possible liver disease, Rowles said, and further tests have been ordered.

"She has not been eating well, or she would not have lost all this weight," Rowles told news reporters Thursday. "We have encouraged her to eat a high-protein diet, which she is taking well."

San Mateo County Sheriff John McDonald, head of the jail where Miss Hearst had been kept since her arrest last Sept. 18, visited her Thursday to check on security, which he found "adequate."

McDonald said the jail was not to blame for the heiress' malnutrition. "She eats like a bird," he said, "she just didn't supply herself with enough food. It was available."

In another development Thursday, the district attorney of Marin County, across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco, said he is willing to offer Miss Hearst immunity from prosecution in return for information about the bombing of two sheriff's patrol cars last summer.

Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales said he did not intend to file any charges against Miss Hearst. He had revealed earlier that she had told FBI agents that she was present, but did not participate when three other persons bombed the two unoccupied patrol cars last Aug. 20.

"She's been convicted of serious federal offenses and is facing serious state charges," Bales said. "It would be useless for me to prosecute her when it wouldn't aggravate her sentence at all."

Miss Hearst was convicted on March 20 of willingly joining Symbionese Liberation Army terrorists in the robbery of a Hibernia Bank branch in San Francisco a month after the rag-tag band kidnaped her.

She and SLA members William and Emily Harris also face trial in Los Angeles on various state charges stemming from a crime spree a month after the Hibernia holdup.

Fiscal troubles seen in L.A. future

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The city of Los Angeles faces a "fiscal crunch" in the coming years, but a study released Thursday said the problem is not of the magnitude faced by New York City.

"It is a matter of semantics to debate whether we are in a crisis or there is one immediately ahead," the Ad Hoc Committee on City Finances established by Mayor Tom Bradley said in its report. "The plain truth is that the forthcoming years will bring a fiscal crunch much tighter than any in the past decade or two. . ."

Bradley set up the committee, composed of business and professional people, following New York City's financial crisis last fall.

"Los Angeles is not on the verge of a New York-type fiscal catastrophe, but mounting problems of the inner city and the growing disparity between expenditures and revenues clearly demonstrate severe financial problems ahead," the study said.

Some of the group's proposals to cure the city's fiscal woes were opposed by its lone representative of labor, Ricardo F. Icaza, secretary-treasurer of Retail Clerks Union Local 770. They were to improve productivity of city workers and to eliminate a city Charter provision under which city employes receive a prevailing wage, comparable to what workers in industry and business are paid.

Among the group's other recommendations were that the city should develop five-year budget forecasts that deal with future needs and possible program cuts; and, the city should tighten use of federal grants and determine, before accepting any grant, how the program involved will be continued or dismantled after the grant runs out.

Judge won't rule against diamond lane

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A federal court judge had refused to issue a preliminary injunction to halt the experimental "diamond lane" project on the Santa Monica Freeway.

Citing "serious legal and factual issues," U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne Thursday ordered a trial on the controversial program May 4.

"There are issues here that are not clear cut...on either side," the judge said in refusing to halt the project.

Byrne, acting on a complaint by the Sacramento-based Pacific Legal Foundation, said the experiment should be retained pending the trial.

Under the diamond lane project, the two fast lanes on a 12-mile stretch of the freeway have been reserved for carpools and buses during rush hours since March 15.

Attorneys for the legal foundation argued that the California Department of Transportation, which runs the project, failed to prepare environmental impact reports on it.

Collision kills five in family

JACKSON (AP) — Five members of a Livermore family are dead following a head-on collision of their van with a double-trailer truck rig loaded with gravel, says the California Highway Patrol.

Two others in the family of Larry Pierce were injured, one critically. The driver of the gravel truck was also injured.

Pierce, himself a truck driver, was at work elsewhere at the time. Authorities said he later visited the two surviving children in Sacramento and Jackson.

The CHP identified the dead as Pierce's wife Joanne, 32, and four of their children.

Two other children were injured, one critically.

Patrolmen quoted the truck driver, James Roach, 31, of Modesto, as saying he was driving west on California 88 with the heavy rig when he tried to slow for traffic ahead.

He told the CHP that the brakes overheated, and the rig swerved to the left into the path of the van.

Patrolmen said Mrs. Pierce and three of the children were pronounced dead at the scene by a passing doctor. The children were identified as Jolene, 13; Danny, 11, and Tammy, 10.

Daughters Cindy, 9, and Nicole, 5, were treated at Amador County Hospital in Jackson and taken to the Sacramento Medical Center. Cindy died in Sacramento later.

Study of kids' food dye intake urged

ANAHEIM (AP) — A Vanderbilt University pharmacologist has called for greater effort to determine the amount of food and drug dyes being consumed by children, who he said are at a greater risk of being harmed by such additives than adults.

Dr. John T. Wilson said his attempts to calculate these quantities had been hampered by the trade secrets of manufacturers of colored drug products.

Since the doses of additives to which people are exposed are not well known, they constitute a "covert environmental pollutant," Wilson told the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology on Thursday.

A number of dyes used in foods have been banned because of their suspected harmful properties, most recently Red Dye No. 2 which is suspected of causing cancer in animals. Some researchers also believe additives may cause hyperactivity in children and, Wilson said, some children cannot take colored pills because they produce an allergic reaction.

In a paper delivered to a symposium on the special vulnerability of chidren to harmful substances, Wilson said he attempted to determine the average consumption of additives. He said a conservative estimate was that the average child consumes about 15 grams (about half an ounce) of coloring a year and some children consume as much as 53 grams (a little under two ounces).

This is far below the World Health Organization's standards of 343 grams per year as an accepted intake, Wilson noted, but he said that figure was arrived at through animal studies and may not apply to humans.

The pharmacologist added that little investigation has been done into possible harmful interaction among various additives, or on the combined effects of additives and other pollutants.

He quoted a pharmacological authority as saying "no federal health agency has the responsibility for research into the specific exposures and susceptibility of the fetus and the child to environmental pollutants."

Bay cabbies back; public vote on city wages eyed

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — City leaders have decided that the electorate will set the wages of struck municipal crafts workers while, on another labor front, the bulk of San Francisco taxi drivers went back to their cabs after an 11-day walkout.

The Board of Supervisors Thursday placed on the June 8 ballot a measure to have voters set the salaries of the 1,900 crafts workers who struck 17 days ago.

The development came the same day that Superior Court Judge Robert Drewes ordered a contempt of court hearing on charges that the striking unions and six leaders have ignored a preliminary injunction.

The injunction, issued monday, declared the strike illegal and ordered that the walkout and all related picketing end. Drewes — who was jostled by union demonstrators Wednesday at City Hall — set the hearingfor April 23.

The ballot measure would freeze crafts workers' salaries over a two-year period and restore a third of the fringe benefits trimmed from their pay for the same period. Supervisors could withdraw the proposals from the ballot before May 10 if a settlement is reached.

Meanwhile, Yellow Cab — the city's biggest taxi company — reached an interim agreement with the Teamsters Union to return its fleet of some 500 cabs to service while negotiations continue in a dispute over fringe benefits.

The board met with chief federal mediator James Scearce on Thursday and offered to begin mediated talks if all striking city crafts workersreturn to work and halt picketing.

The city move toward mediation was a positive sign in the otherwise deadlocked talks to end the strike that has tied up all pubic transportation.

Black pastor suffers eye burns from mail

PASADENA (AP) — Police today were investigating the case of a black minister whose eyes were injured when a mailed parcel "flashed" in his face as he opened it.

The Rev. Harrison Bailey, target of pranks and threats in the past, was treated at Huntington Memorial Hospital for corneal burns Thursday after a package he received in the mail caught fire as he unwrapped it.

Police said they don't know where the package came from or what explosives were used. They said the FBI and postal authorities have been notified.

Bailey was the same black community leader found dangling nude from a tree last Sept. 16 in a Pasadena park. He told police he had been given a drugged hamburger by three men who accompanied him to a restaurant. He said when he awoke he found himself strapped into a shoulder harness, hanging from a tree.

Three weeks later he and eight other black leaders from Pasadena and adjacent Altadena received threatening letters. The threats were marked with swastikas. They referred to the Bailey incident and warned, "Next time it will be for real."

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. expects to receive $2,599 in federal and state income tax rebates, according to his returns.

The returns, released Thursday by the governor's office, show he paid $13,023 to the federal government and $3,735 to California in 1975 income taxes.

Brown, who had wages of $48,910, had his returns prepared by a certified public accountant. He signed them Wednesday, one day before the deadline.

According to the returns, he is due a $1,939 refund from the Internal Revenue Service and $660 from the State Franchise Tax Board.

Brown, a 38-year-old bachelor Democrat, works in a $49,100-a-year job, but he did not take office until Jan. 6, 1975. For six days he received the lower salary as secretary of state.

He listed no contributions, showing deductions as $210 dues to the California Bar Association, $1,813 in real estate taxes, $390 in general sales and $489 in personal property.

His savings account earned him $570 in interest.

Rats having a picnic, getting fat

S.F. lying under mounds of trash

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Rats are crawling over towers of trash which have mounted at public housing projects since city workers left their jobs 16 days ago.

And most of the 30,000 residents of the city's 43 projects are feeling little sympathy for the municipal employes whose strike and picketing have left many with no heat or hot water or public transportation.

"We've got to live on $300 a month," said one man who hobbled on crutches at Clementina Towers, home for 326 people. "These guys have gotta live on $24,000 a year. Poor babies. I really feel for them. Especially when I'm trying to shave."

About 72 per cent of project residents are on some sort of public assistance and are looking to the city for help. Peter Trimble, assistant executive director of the San Francisco Housing Authority, says that help is on the way.

Isabel Martinez, who lives with her two small children at another city-owned project, says there has been no janitorial service since the strike began March 31.

"You can't even open up the windows, the stink is so bad," said Mrs. Martinez, 27. "We've killed 10 rats already, and you should see the size of the rats. They're getting fat on the garbage."

Henry Jefferson, manager of Valencia Gardens, said trash usually is collected twice a week. But since the strike started and pickets began ringing the project buildings, Jefferson says the trash has not been collected once.

Sacks of garbage have overflowed trash cans and litter the ground. Private trash collectors who pick up project trash will only empty cans, not pick up litter on the ground.

"We make an attempt to take the garbage out of those projects every day, but some days we can't get near the places, especially when there are pickets out there," said Dino Queirolo, vice president of Sunset Scavangers.

Trimble says the city has called in some private contracters on an emergency basis. "Normally, the groundskeepers keep the trash in cans and the janitors service the furnace boilers," he said.

Trimble says the rats are around all the time, and the city has a regular crew to exterminate them. "They've been off since the strike began," Trimble said, "but I don't see any mass exodus of rats to the projects."

Some 1,900 of the city's 18,000 employes struck March 31 in a dispute over $5.7 million in voter-mandated pay cuts.

'Trying to stop me'—Carter

By Associated Press

Jimmy Carter said today that supporters of his Democratic presidential rivals are "now locking together in a very tightknit effort to stop me" and create a deadlocked national nominating convention.

Carter told a private fund-raising breakfast in Washington that "some of the labor organizations who profess openly they know (Sen. Henry M.) Jackson doesn't have a chance to be president support him openly because of that."

The former Georgia governor said his opponents "are making an effort to create a deadlocked convention by stopping me in Pennsylvania," site of an April 27 primary that is the next major test among the announced leading candidates for the Democratic nomination.

Carter did not specify what form this "tight-knit effort" is taking but said "whether someone is supporting Sen. (Hubert) Humphrey, Frank Church, Mo Udall, Scoop Jackson or Jerry Brown they are now coordinating very tightly their effort to stop Jimmy Carter."

In Washington, Carter said a brokered convention would be a serious mistake for the party. He contended that Humphrey would have been elected in 1968 "if we had not gone through the divisive experience of a brokered convention."

Carter, who has been critical of Humphrey in the past, said the Minnesota senator "would have made and would still make a very fine president.

In appealing for campaign contributions, Carter said the cutoff of federal matching money for primary campaigns has cut down his ability to present himself in Pennsylvania because his campaign had counted on the money to finance his media efforts.

Carter, campaiging in Pennsylvania Thursday, accsused Jackson of distorting his stand on right-to-work laws and other labor issues. Carter said some union workers have turned against him as a result.

"I think Scoop Jackson is getting desperate," Carter said.

Spotlight on area crime

Kidnaped, taken for ride

A Pomona man told police early Thursday that he was kidnaped by a young couple who robbed him and forced him to drive to Los Angeles.

The victim, Robert Dennis Phillips, 22, Pomona, also said Los Angeles police refused to take any action when he complained to them about the incident while his abductors were still in the area. He said they told him to report the incident to Pomona police.

Phillips said the incident began at the Jack in the Box Drive Thru restaurant at 100 E. Holt Ave. where the man asked him for a quarter. Next he asked Phillips to drive him and his female companion to a friend's house. Phillips agreed but after they arrived at an apartment building in Montclair, the man struck him with his fists and robbed him of $33. Then he was forced to drive the couple to Los Angeles where he freed himself at a bus depot. It was at the depot where he said the Los Angeles officers showed no interest in his complaint. His car was found near the depot. He returned to Pomona and reported the incident.

Phillips' abductor was described as black, about 22, 5 feet 11 of medium build. He had a pierced right ear and wore an army jacket and blue trousers. His companion was a young black woman.

Car rams another

A 29-year-old ONTARIO man complained to police early Thursday that his car was rammed by another car containing two men in the 1500 block of Sultana Avenue.

Kurt Paul Fowers of 1221 Alvardo St. told officers that he was driving his car on Sultana Avenue when he was forced to pass another car as the road narrowed. Fowers said the maneuver apparently angered the other driver. He said that the other car crashed into the rear end of his vehicle twice, forcing him to lose control of the vehicle and drive off the road.

Sought for questioning on charges of assault with a deadly weapon are two men, both described as Latins in their late 20s. They were driving a Chevrolet Monte Carlo white and red in color.

Teenagers robbed

Two MONTCLAIR teenagers were robbed of their wallets Thursday night by two men, one armed with a handgun, on Monte Vista Avenue north of the San Bernardino Freeway, Montclair police reported.

The youths, Darren Payton and Donas Cobb, told police that two men in a rusty gold late model car pulled up alongside them on Monte Vista and asked how they could get to Pomona. The youths began to give them directions when the driver in the car produced a .38 caliber police special revolver and demanded their wallets. The youths said they complied when the men told them they would kill them.

The youths said the wallets contained no money. The robbers car sped off onto the onramp of Monte Vista Avenue and the freeway.

The robbers were both described as blacks.

Woman held in theft

A 43-year-old ONTARIO woman was booked in the West End Jail this morning on burglary charges after she allegedly slipped several foodstuffs and hygiene products into a false-bottomed purse at the Market Basket Food Store at 1040 N. Mountain Ave. in Ontario.

Barbara Fern Fitzpatrick of 1218 Vesta Ave., was arrested Thursday by security officers after leaving the store.

Robbed by youths

A young Pomona man was robbed Thursday night by a group of youths who surrounded him on the parking lot at Bob's Big Boy restaurant at 221 W. Holt Ave., POMONA.

Jagdish Mirani, 19, a student, said he had just opened the door of his car when a group of youths in their late teens approached and surrounded him. One, holding a revolver, demanded his money, and returned his wallet after looting it. The thieves then ran northbound on Main Street.

The armed leader was described as black, 5 feet 8, weighing 130 pounds. He wore a leather jacket and dark trousers.

$2 billion flu bill is law

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $1.94-billion bill to finance various job programs, and including $135 million to carry out a nationwide swine flu immunization program, has become law.

The bill, provides the resources needed "to achieve our goal of making the influenza vaccine available to every American by the end of the year," said President Ford, who signed the bill on Thursday.

The immunization program was launched to protect Americans against a swine-type strain of virus believed responsible for a half million deaths in the United States during 1918-19.

Also included in the bill was $1.2 billion for public service jobs designed to keep the present level of 315,000 persons employed in special programs by state and local governments through next January.

The measure also included $528.4 million to provide 888,000 jobs for young people this summer; $55.9 million for 15,000 jobs for the elderly; and $23 million for summer recreation and community programs.

Family sues bank in holdup death

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The widower and four children of Myrna Opsahl have filed a lawsuit asking $1 million in damages from the Crocker National Bank and unidentified robbers who killed her in a 1975 holdup.

The suit, filed Thursday in Sacramento County Superior Court, accuses the bank of violating the 1968 Federal Bank Protection Act with negligence, carelessness and omissions.

Dr. Trygve Opsahl of Carmichael was working at Eskaton American River Hospital last April 21 when his wife was brought into the emergency room. She died of shock and loss of blood.

"They all tried to do everything they could," Opsahl said of the hospital staff. "But she had been in shock too long and bled completely out."

The suit alleges Crocker Bank "negligently and carelessly failed to install, maintain and operate security devices and procedures for the protection of the health and safety of its patrons ...."

The Carmichael bank branch did not have a surveillance camera installed at the time of the robbery, officials said.

Opsahl said his 42-year-old wife had gone to the bank about 9 a.m. with two other women to deposit Seventh-day Adventist Church funds.

He said he was told by officers that "apparently one of the robbers held the door open for them. They thanked them and walked in."

Moments later, Mrs. Opsahl was hit by pellets from a 12-gauge shotgun blast, he said.

"Apparently most people thought it was just a warning shot or something like that. But it hit my wife right in the side."

Opsahl and his four children, who are between 14 and 20 years old, are suing for unspecified general damages in excess of $5,000, $1 million in punitive damages and funeral expenses.

Steven Soliah, 27-year-old housepainter and underground companion of Patricia Hearst, is on trial in U.S. District Court on charges of participating in the $15,000 robbery. Soliah is the only person charged in the crime.

Witnesses have testified at the trial that four robbers were inside the bank.

Boy locked in room, no water; has brain damage

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A 13-year-old boy was locked in a barren room and deprived of water for so long that he suffered a fluid imbalance resulting in irreparable brain damage, police say.

The child, Tony Bush, is hospitalized in poor condition, suffering from severe dehydration and brain damage. His mother and stepfather have been jailed under $5,000 bond each on child abuse charges.

"The child is 13, but he looks about six or seven, he's so small," Hillsborough Sheriff's Maj. Walter Heinrich said Thursday.

Billy Lee Frazee, 45, and his wife, Loretta Bush Frazee, 32, of nearby Riverview were arrested Wednesday night after deputies investigated a complaint received on a hotline at a Bradenton social services office.

Police said the child was locked for extended periods in a room containing nothing but a bed and was kept from school over the past year.

Honorary degree for Sinatra

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Frank Sinatra will be awarded an honorary degree by the University of Nevada-Las Vegas on May 23.

The university said the Doctor of Humane Letters degree recognizes Sinatra's help in raising $500,000 in scholarships for the school.

The Nevada Board of Regents also cited Sinatra's musical and acting talents in approving the award, the school announced this week.

The university said it would be Sinatra's first honorary doctorate.

Beatty to portray Hughes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Warren Beatty will portray the late Howard Hughes in the second motion picture about the reclusive billionaire announced since his death April 5.

Ted Ashley, chairman of the board of Warner Bros., said Thursday Beatty would also produce the film and begin production in August.

Ashley said talks with Beatty about the movie had been under way for six months, although the deal was not concluded until this week.

David L. Wolper Productions announced earlier it had purchased the screen rights to Clifford Irving's hoax autobiography of Hughes.

Hughes, 70, died April 5 en route to a Houston hospital from Acapulco, Mexico.

Simon says FEA is a cancer

HOUSTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who came to public prominence as the head of what is now the Federal Energy Administration, said Thursday the agency has become an example of the cancer of big government.

Simon make the comment in a speech Thursday before the Houston Chamber of Commerce. A bill is before Congress to extend the life of the FEA for three years beyond June 30, when its current statutory authority is scheduled to expire.

Simon said the energy crisis is over but the FEA lives on.

Model sues for $8 million

NEW YORK (AP) — A fashion model has sued Viva magazine for $8 million, claiming it used her picture on the cover of its May issue without her permission to package its "sexually based format."

Margaret Ashley Porter, 24, a 5-foot-10 inch brunette, said Thursday in her State Supreme Court suit:

Suggest China techniques in predicting earthquakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The study of pre-earthquake conditions which allowed Chinese officials to prepare for a strong quake last year should be used to limit devastation from possible California quakes, a key U.S. scientist says.

Dr. Frank Press, president of the American Geophysical Union, says the U.S. experts should learn the Chinese earthquake prediction techniques.

The Chinese noticed that a slight uplift in the ground sometimes precede large, destructive quakes and began earthquake prepartions when such an uplift was found in Liaoning Province. A similar rise recently was found along the San Andreas Fault in California, Press said Thursday.

The Chinese immediately began an intensive study of the uplift, which centered near the major city of Haicheng. Early warning equipment was set up to notify officials of the first clue of a quake.

The warning system was coupled with extensive education campaigns on how the public was to respond to a quake — where to go, what to do and how to minimize danger and damage.

When the earthquake came, a million people were successfully evacuated and "countless thousands of lives" were saved, Press said.

He said that even though the San Andreas uplift near Los Angeles seems similar to the Liaoning event, there has not yet been a coordinated response by California or U.S. officials. A major study of the uplift has begun, Press told the geological union's annual meeting.

The California uplift — known as the "Palmdale Bubble," after a nearby community — covers 4,500 square miles and rises 10 inches at its highest point, scientists say.

The U.S. Geological Survey says such sudden uplifts in some instances precede large earthquakes, but in other instances the land bulges and no tremors follow.

Arms class for security guards open

The Upland Recreation Department will sponsor a new and mandatory course in firearms training for security guards.

The course, approved through the California Department of Consumer Affairs, will include classroom instruction Saturday from 8 a.m. to p.m. Range qualification will be held April 24 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m.

2 deputies hurt in rescue

Two West End sheriff's deputies were slightly injured Thursday while carrying an injured hiker out of rugged and muddy Cucamonga Canyon.

Deputies Ruben Olvera and Richard Peterson suffered minor leg injuries during the rescue of Kirt Davis of 903 Purdue St., Upland, according to members of the West End Search and Rescue Team.

Davis, according to deputies was hiking about eight miles north of the canyon mouth with a companion, James Johnson, when he suddenly slipped on a log and fell 10 feet, injuring his ankle Wednesday. The two men stayed in the canyon overnight and Johnson then walked out for help.

The West End Search and Rescue, led by Johnson, returned to Davis in the canyon and placed him on a stretcher. During a three mile hike back down the canyon the two deputies slipped and injured their legs. Rain was falling heavily at the time, deputies said.

GERALD L.K. SMITH

GLENDALE (AP) — Gerald L.K. Smith, the right-wing fundamentalist preacher who espoused the "every man a king" philosophy of Huey "Kingfish" Long, has died at 78.

Smith, who was at once denounced as a hate-spewing bigot and praised as a Christian patriot, received his greatest fame in the 1930s as an anti-Roosevelt orator in the political vein of the then-governor of Louisiana, Huey Long.

As Long built nationwide grassroots support for his "Share Our Wealth" politics, Smith was at his side, vowing to "drive that cripple (Roosevelt) from the White House."

Smith was with Long when an assassin's bullet felled the governor, and Smith for a while harbored a wish to succeed Long to the "Share Our Wealth" throne.

But Long's machine made peace with Roosevelt and Smith was left out in the cold. He then turned his attention, briefly, to a movement to boycott Jewish merchants in New Orleans and other Southern cities.

In 1937, Smith joined Dr. Francis Townsend and became second in command at Old Age Revolving Pensions, Ltd. It was while he was with Townsend that Smith allied himself with the radio ministry of Father Coughlin, whose radical anti - communist message was congruent to Smith's own.

Also, at that time, Smith organized his so-called "Committee of One Million," which served as the backbone for his drive against Jews, organized labor, Roosevelt, Britain and organized bankers.

He tried to usurp the ministry of Father Coughlin, but was unsuccessful.

Smith settled in Detroit and as the world crept toward war, he espoused the policy of isolationism. In 1940, he claimed that "big money" Republicans supported his cause and boasted that he "virtually wrote the party's 1940 war plank."

He continued to deliver his isolationist message until the attack on Pearl Harbor prompted him to implore his fellow citizens to "choose between Japan and America — the godless oriental or the Christian West."

His anti-war messages transformed into "victory rallies," Smith went on preaching to the end of the war.

Obituaries

Aurelia Barela

Mrs. Aurelia A. Barela of 1369 W. Sixth St., Pomona, died Wednesday afternoon in Park Avenue Hospital, Pomona.

Mrs. Barela was born July 23, 1892 in Walnut and had lived all her life in the Pomona area. She was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Pomona.

Surviving is a daughter, Mrs. Iyola M. Guzman of Pomona; two sons, Orlando of Pomona and Nolbert of Los Angeles; five grandchildren; one great-grandchild and many nieces and nephews.

A Rosary will be recited Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. Mass of the Christian Burial will be celebrated Monday at 9 a.m. in Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Burial will be made in Holy Cross Cemetery, Pomona.

Elmer Gill

Elmer M. Gill of 1749 N. Glenn Ave., Ontario died Thursday at San Antonio Community Hospital following a long illness.

Mr. Gill was born March 7, 1909 in Wisconsin. He was a resident of Ontario for the last 20 years. He was an engineer at General Dynamics in Pomona. He was a member of St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Upland and the James M. Hayes Masonic Lodge in Milwaukee, Wis.

He is survived by his widow, Marie; two sons, Jon M. of El Centro and Timothy M. of Beaumont; a daughter, Mrs. Kathleen Napier of Ontario; a brother, Robert of Wisconsin; two sisters, Mrs. Betty McDermott and Mrs. Margaret Flood, both of Texas; seven grandchildren and one great-grandson.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 11 a.m. at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Upland.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Elmer M. Gill Memorial Fund at the Navajo Gospel Mission, P. O. Box 41, Oraibi, Ariz. 86039.

Paul Byers

Paul W. Byers of 660 W. Bonita Ave., Claremont, died Wednesday evening in a Claremont convalescent hospital.

Mr. Byers was born Jan. 18, 1895 in Illinois. He came to California from Illinois around 1920. He had lived in San Marino, Glendora and Claremont prior to moving to Palm Springs in 1955. In 1970 he moved back to Claremont.

Mr. Byers served with the U.S. Navy during World War I.

Besides his widow, Kathryn, he is survived by a son, William H. of Claremont; four sisters, Mrs. Helen Dunn of Phoenix, Ariz., Mrs. Grace Smith, Mrs. Evelyn Saltzman and Mrs. Alice Olson, all of Dixon, Ill.; and two grandchildren.

Private services were held this afternoon in Todd Memorial Chapel Pomona. The Rev. Benton S. Gaskell, pastor of the Pilgrim Congregational Church, Pomona, officiated. Services concluded in the chapel.

Marilyn Spencer

Mrs. Marilyn Irene Spencer of Los Angeles died Thursday in St. Mary's Hospital, Long Beach.

She was born March 31, 1922, in Los Angeles and resided in Pomona from 1960 to 1966. She was employed as a registered nurse at the San Dimas Community Hospital.

Survivors include her husband, Gayle H., Los Angeles; and three sons, Bradley, Terrence and Christopher, all of Los Angeles.

Rosary will be recited at 10 a.m. Saturday in Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Los Angeles. Burial will be in the Inglewood Cemetery.

Arrangements are being handled by Woods Glendale Mortuary.

Christine Lynn Sandberg

Christine Lynn Sandberg, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sandberg of 685 Atlantic Court, Upland, died at birth Sunday at San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland.

Besides her parents she is survived by a brother, Kenneth, and a sister, Deborah, both at home; and grandparents, Mrs. Mary Sandberg of Claremont and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas W. Teska of Pomona.

Private services were held Thursday at Forest Lawn Covina Hills.

Birdsall named ag commissioner

Roger Birdsall has been promoted from chief assistant agriculture commissioner to agriculture commissioner for San Bernardino County. He succeeds Roy Camblin, who recently retired.

In his new position, he will have charge of 35 employes who operate the main office in San Bernardino plus nine field offices, including those in Chino, Ontario and Cucamonga.

Birdsall sees his department's chief function as promoting and protecting agriculture within the county.

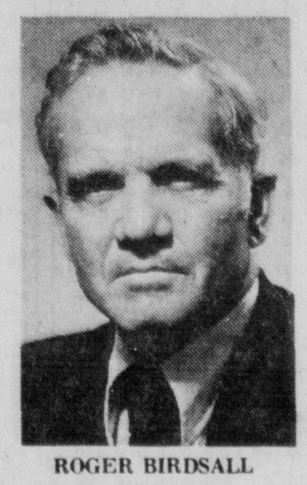
He forcasts a bright agriculture future for the county as the number of cultivated acres continues to increase.

"As farming is phased out in the Chino and Redlands areas, I expect this will be replaced in the desert areas," he added.

"Within the next 10 years, I foresee increased cultivation in both Victorville and Barstow areas."

Birdsall believes the dairy industry in the West End has just about reached its peak in growth.

"I hope our agriculture preserves in both Chino and Ontario areas will remain and thus help protect our dairy industry. We are getting encroachment from both Chino and Ontario," he added.



ROGER BIRDSALL

Birdsall, born in Upland, resided during his early life in Ontario where he graduated from Chaffey High School.

His father, Lynn Birdsall, had a ranch in Ontario which he sold in 1946 before moving to Pomona.

Birdsall and his wife, Virginia, have two children, a son, Stephen of Rialto and student at Cal Poly, and a daughter, Susan, a graduate of Cal Poly now teaching in Apple Valley.

Parents and Teachers

Winners of the "Spirit of '76" Bicentennial poster contest at DIAMOND POINT SCHOOL in Diamond Bar have been announced by PTA board members.

The winners are Karen Laibrick, Cindy Rohrig, Ken Mayhan, sixth grade; Peggy Dlouhy, Becky Fettel, Kimi Haines, fifth grade; Michelle Webb, Derek Engdahl, Kelley Feldscott, fourth grade; Christy Hanf, John Ewing, Scott Walker, third grade; Todd Tappe, Monique McConnell, Eric Kruckenberg, second grade; and Kevin Palmer, Mike Magoka, Erick Ozeki, first grade.

KINGSLEY SCHOOL of Pomona, in conjunction with Public Schools Week, will hold its annual open house Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The PTA will sponsor an ice cream social in the school cafeteria during the open house. Pie, cake, ice cream, punch, school sweatshirts, pennants, cookbooks and school days' books will be on sale.

The Kingsley PTA will sponsor a Bicentennial family picnic April 25 on the school grounds, beginning at 12:30 p.m. Families are to bring their own lunches and plan to participate in such games as sack races, tugs-of-war and tire rolls. Baseball will be played and handicrafts will be displayed.

SUMNER SCHOOL PFA of Claremont will host a coffee in the multi-purpose room Tuesday at 8 p.m. Speakers for and against the recall election will attend to answer questions.

A meeting on the pros and cons of the recall election will be held at the school on May 18.

WALNUT HIGH SCHOOL'S eighth annual spring open house and school fair is scheduled for April 28 from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Visitors may look forward to sampling international foods cooked by foreign language students, the actual filming of a movie in social science, young scientists conducting tours of their area and business students demonstrating their office skills.

The Band Boosters will sponsor a refreshment and bake sale in conjunction with the fine and performing arts department. Entertainment will include a mime show and stage band and choral group performances.

Art students will demonstrate pottery making, weaving, jewelry making, enameling, macrame and air brush techniques. Jewelry and pottery may be ordered or purchased in the display room.

Swimming demonstrations and a diving contest will held in the new high school pool.

Parents may visit classes all day April 28 at SAN DIMAS HIGH SCHOOL as part of open house activities. There will be a general meeting in the gym at 7:30 p.m.

After the meeting, visitors may go to the various departments and talk with the teachers. Refreshments will be served.

Citrus to begin budget review

Citrus College trustees will review the preliminary budget for 1976-77 at a special meeting on May 11.

The tentative budget was submitted to board members at a Tuesday meeting. It proposes $10.5 million for 1976-77, up $283,000, or 2.5 per cent over last year's budget.

However, a college spokesman said, the tax rate is expected to remain at just under 61 cents per $100 of assessed valuation. This rate might even drop shortly, the spokesman added, when all final income figures are tabulated.

The preliminary budget is due to be approved at the June board meeting.

The board also approved the formation of a Regional Adult and Vocational Education Council within the region comprising the Citrus College District in an effort to avoid duplication of adult education and vocational training programs.

The council composed of junior college and secondary school officials plus federal and county officials will meet on April 29 at Griswold's, Claremont. Four trustees will attend.

The council is a part of a new State Assembly statute which requires such boards in the state to eliminate educational duplication among colleges, high schools and federally funded Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) students.

PSA flies to San Francisco 3 times a day (from Ontario).

Is there a better way than suing?

SAN FRANCISCO — You have an automobile accident and feel that it was due to a manufacturing defect.

Or you have an operation and believe your surgeon negligently maimed you. In either event, you should sue, right?

Maybe Not.

There may be a way to resolve personal injury and product liability disputes that beats suing under today's tort laws.

A Blue-Ribbon Panel is being organized to determine whether there is a better way. Twenty prominent Californians have just been invited to become members of a new commission on tort reform.

"The Commission on Tort Reform was called for by the California Medical Association's House of Delegates in February, after agonizing over the Medical Malpractice Insurance crisis," said Dr. Ralph M. Milliken, CMA president.

"The House directed that the commission be completely independent of CMA and that it be broadly representative of the many segments of society affected by the many different types of liability insurance problems, not just medical malpractice," he added.

Preliminary work to organize the commission and nominate its members has been completed by a temporary steering committee headed by John Vaughn, Los Angeles Civic Leader.

"It is planned that those requested to serve on the Commission on Tort Reform will meet Monday to formally organize the commission, elect its officers and outline its goals," Dr. Milliken said.

"The steering committee has suggested that the commission scrutinize the social policy and public interests involved in the entire system of tort law in California," he noted.

"This is a monumental undertaking, but is necessary in order to determine how social policies might be restructured to more equitably meet the needs of all sectors of society in California. These include the person or firm providing a product or service, the person injured by it, the insurer, the courts and society as a whole.

"Other organizations are looking into tort reform, and we hope their efforts can be coordinated with those of this commission. This is particularly important because of the urgent need to resolve the liability problem within a short time frame.

"It is expected the commission on tort reform will complete its work by mid-1977 and issue a public report on its conclusions and recommendations at that time.

"We hope the commission's recommendations can then be brought before the people of California and put into effect by the appropriate agencies," he concluded.

Shipwrecks being studied

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP) — In what they believe is the first Great Lakes shipwreck study ever done, the Northwest Ohio-Great Lakes Research Center at Bowling Green State University has collected information on 1,321 ships lost in Michigan waters.

The two-year study, dealing only with those portions of Lakes Erie, Michigan, Huron, St. Clair and Superior in Michigan's domain, was conducted for the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

Market closed

Almanac

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, April 16, the 107th day of 1976. There are 259 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1917, Communist leader Vladimir Lenin returned to Russia after years of exile to assume leadership of the Russian revolutionary movement.

On this date—

In 1789, George Washington left Mount Vernon for his inauguration as the first president of the United States.

In 1906, the Pacific cable was completed between the United States and China.

In 1947, more than 500 people perished in fires and explosions at Texas City, Tex., after a French freighter loaded with nitrate blew up.

In 1967, in South Vietnam, a U.S. bombing mistake cost the lives of 14 Vietnamese at a village housing defectors from the Communist side.

Ten years ago: The U.S., Britain and West Germany established a new group to deal with problems involving France's withdrawal from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Five years ago: President Richard Nixon declared that U.S. air raids against North Vietnam would not be halted until Hanoi freed all American prisoners of war.

One year ago: The Cambodian government in Phnom Penh asked for a truce and offered to yield to enemy forces sweeping into the city.

Today's birthdays: Charlie Chaplin is 87. Composer and conductor Henry Mancini is 52.

Thought for today: He is not only idle who does nothing, but he is idle who might be better employed —Socrates, Greek philosopher, 468 B.C. to 399 B.C.

Bicentennal footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General Artemus Ward expressed the fears of many Bostonians when he warned that the harbor was unprotected and asked: "What would prevent the recently departed British from returning?"

Rohr to lay off Mexicans

CHULA VISTA (AP) — Rohr Industries Inc., struggling against millions of dollars in losses, says it will layoff 180 workers at its Mexican plants in Tijuana and Mexicali.

A company spokesman confirmed the layoffs Wednesday, and said they amounted to a 40 per cent cutback in its "Border Friendship" operations.

The move is designed to stave off further losses by Rohr, an aerospace company which has branched into rapid rail transit.

At the same time, however, Rohr said the Mexico cutbacks will allow the firm to rehire some of the 1,400 American workers laid off since last year. The exact number to be rehired has not yet been decided, the spokesman said.

Company officials denied that the Mexico layoffs resulted from a ruling by the U.S. Labor Department that the Mexican plants contributed to the layoff of American jobholders.

"It was purely a business decision and was not connected to the Labor Department ruling," the spokesman said.

Rohr's decision will lead to the closing of the Parfabco production plant in Tijuana, where 120 persons were employed, and to dismissal of 60 workers from the 220-man force at the Transysco de Mexico plant in Mexicali.

A third plant employing 100 workers in Tijuana will not be affected, Rohr said.

U.S. history in exhibition

NEW YORK (AP) — An exhibition called "The American Idea, Discovery and Settlement, Revolution and Independence" is being shown at the New York Public Library on Fifth Ave. through July 19.

Disney revenues, income rise

BURBANK (BW) — Walt Disney Productions has reported its revenues and net income for six months ending March 31 increased 21 per cent to $255,238,000 while net income increased 37 per cent to $29,198,000.

For the quarter ending March 31, revenues increased 16 per cent to $139,502,000 while net income increased 27 per cent to $18,029,000.

E. Cardon Walker, president, said record film rentals, both domestic and foreign, were a major factor contributing to the company's increased profitability.

"For the six months, film rentals, including television, increased 25 per cent to $62,648,000. Domestic theatrical revenues increased 23 per cent and foreign theatrical revenues increased 19 per cent over the prior record year," said Walker.

Revenues in the consumer products division increased 48 per cent to $44,049,000, with the character merchandise and publications, record and music publishing and Lake Buena Vista Village Shopping Complex making significant contributions.

Attendance at Walt Disney World during the six months increased 6.3 per cent to 5,526,000. For the second quarter, attendance totaled 3,215,000, up 2.1 per cent.

At Disneyland in California, attendance for the same six-month period totaled 3,531,000, up 4.2.

Easter Sunday Begins With Sunrise

It's a beautiful moment to behold. Crisp morning air. Anticipation. And then, the first rays of sunlight brighten the eastern sky.

We cordially invite you, your family and friends to join us for this year's Easter Sunrise Service.

The sights are wondrous. The songs inspiring. All together it's a pageant that captures the very essence of Easter.

Easter Message:
Dr. Benjamin F. Reid,
First Church of God of L.A.

Music:
Soloist Peggy Coburn
and the Massed Choir of St. Luke's Catholic Church and First Baptist Church

Service begins at 5:15 A.M.

BICENTENNIAL CELEBRATORS — Michelle Webb, Al Gonzalez and Todd Wagner churned ice cream for the recent Bicentennial celebration at Diamond Point School in Diamond Bar. The day included a concert, poster contest, lofted baloons carrying Bicentennial messages, a picnic and relay games. The festivities were sponsored by the school PTA.

Montclair scout an Eagle

Charles Meisner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meisner of 9559 Carrillo Ave., Montclair, will receive the Eagle Award at 7 p.m. Monday at Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church.

The award presentation will be in the Father Mackey Memorial Hall of the church. Judge Mary Waters will be the principal speaker. Scoutmaster Robert Sabin and the parents committee, headed by Robert Harris, will also participate in the ceremony.

Meisner, 14, is a member of Boy Scout Troop 313, sponsored by Sleepcraft. He has been assistant patrol leader, patrol leader and senior patrol leader. He has held a diving championship and is currently representing Montclair High School on its diving team.

In order to achieve the Eagle award, a scout must pass the tenderfoot, second class, first class, star and life requirements and earn 24 specific merit badges. In addition, leadership and character requirements must be shown in his daily life.

Meisner's project consisted of painting signs and parking bumpers and striping the parking lot at Our Lady of Lourdes Church.

Lt. Gov. Dymally will address Urban League

Lt. Gov. Mervyn Dymally will speak at the 10th anniversary dinner meeting of the Inland Area Urban League May 7 at UC Riverside.

The dinner and program will be preceded by a 5:30 p.m. cocktail hour in the patio area of the university commons. The dinner will be in the commons dining room.

Dinner chairman June Goldware said the purpose of the league is to provide better living conditions for all by improving the ethnic, racial, social and economic atmosphere in the Inland Area.

"Our anniversary dinner will be an occasion for an important multiracial gathering from all socio-economic levels of the communities in Riverside and San Bernardino counties," she said.

Others serving on the dinner committee are Anita Dimery, Jeanne Jones, Terrance Hall, Jacquelyn Haywood, Larry Hendon, David Kennedy, Ola Faye Stephens, Jay Wilkinson and George Williams.

Thomas A. Keller is executive director of the league.

To assure seating, dinner reservations must be made by April 26. They may be made by writing the Inland Urban League, 1622 W. Baseline St., San Bernardino. The telephone number is 889-9643.

On campus

THE SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY at Claremont will present a financial planning seminar on Thursday from 10 to 11:30 a.m. at the First United Methodist Church in Whittier.

"What You Can Do With What You Can't Take With You" is the seminar topic. The meeting is being held in conjunction with the spring meeting of the Women's Auxiliary to the School of Theology.

The seminar is open to all friends of the school and will feature two professional estate planners.

A Pomona student at Eastern Washington State College has been named to the winter quarter honor roll.

She is Miss CHRISTINE M. GOFF, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Goff, and a senior majoring in speech communications.

Fifteen students at UC RIVERSIDE have been pursuing research projects this school year through funding from the UC President's Undergraduate Fellowship program.

Keith W. Deans, a senior from Ontario, received $425 to study the Western Collard Lizard.

Richard G. Olson, 36, will return to his alma mater, HARVEY MUDD COLLEGE, to fill a senior post in the humanities-social sciences department in September.

One of the country's youngest recognized scholars in the history of science and technology, Olson graduated from HMC in 1962, received his master's degree in physics from Harvard the next year and obtained his Ph.D. in history of science from Harvard, four years later.

Olson has been an historian at UC Santa Cruz since 1967. During his academic year, the new appointee has received a variety of awards and fellowships.

THE SCHOOL OF THEOLOGY at Claremont is now accepting applications for the 1976 Summer Session which begins June 7.

A variety of courses will be offered including many short term workshops and seminars. Courses will be taught by members of the faculty of the School of Theology and distinguished visiting professors.

Specific information about all of the courses being offered may be obtained by contacting the Office of Admissions, School of Theology at Claremont, phone 626-3521.

WHAT A WONDERFUL WAY TO LOSE FAT!

•NO CALORIE COUNTING! •NO EXERCISES! •NO SPECIAL DIETS!

Thanks to a group of New York doctors, you can now lose pounds of ugly fat without going on any special diet, without cutting out any special foods.

HELPS REDUCE HUNGRY MOMENTS

"Model-etts" does remarkable things. It helps you cut down your caloric intake by a natural automatic curbing of the appetite and of the desire for foods, resulting automatically in a reduced intake of food.

Before "Model-etts" was offered to you, it was tested clinically by the doctors on a large group of non-glandular overweight men and women.

1. Weight losses of 6 to 20 pounds without any ill effects whatsoever.
2. 96% of the men and women who used "Model-etts" lost weight.

"Model-etts" is absolutely safe. It is a food adjuvant—not a drug. So, start today to shed those unwanted pounds and inches. If your condition is glandular or organic, see your doctor. "Model-etts" may help you stay on the diet you doctor recommends. Ask him about it.

You can get a two month's supply of "Model-etts" for $5.00 on money back guarantee. In clinical tests, "Model-etts" was 96% successful. "Model-etts" may not be 100% successful in all cases, but you take no risk in trying "Model-etts" on our Money Back Guarantee. Come to General Nutrition to get "MODEL-ETTS." The sooner you start, the sooner you may have the loss of weight you yearn for.

Sounds too good to be true, BUT IT IS TRUE!

How Model-etts Curbs Your Appetite.

In the opinion of the supervising physician, based on the average of weight losses in the clinical tests, his calculations showed that 1 Model-etts Wafer has the hunger satisfying capacity of 1 pound boiled potatoes or 4 eggs or 5 slices of white bread, yet it contains only 6 calories.

In their Easter bonnets...

Ontario recycling pays way but tree plan barely budding

By L.T. ROGERS
Asst. City Editor

Ontario's newspaper recycling program has netted 863 tons of newspaper but yielded only three tree plantings during its first two years of operation.

But city officials aren't discouraged since most of the $22,497 in newspaper sales was used to reimburse the city for its initial outlay and for salaries of program employes.

The city began the recycling program in 1974 to reduce the amount of tonnage going to the county dump, provide jobs and raise money to plant trees in parkways.

To start the curbside collections, the city provided $17,000 for initial expenses. This included $9,000 to purchase three motorscooters.

With most of the $17,000 reimbursed and the price of used newspaper increasing, Asst. City Manager Dennis Wilkins predicts that more funds will be raised for tree plantings.

When approving a contract with a newspaper buyer, the city insisted on a "floor-price" clause in which Ontario would receive no less than $25 per ton.

Thus when foreign markets stopped purchase of American newspaper and the market price dropped to $2 per ton, the city was able to remain at a "break-even" level, said Wilkins.

He believes the program is now at a "turn-around" point since the price of newspaper has increased to $35 a ton.

But Wilkins was most impressed with the city salvaging this newspaper tonnage from the county dump.

"We have been able to divert this 863 tons from the landfill," he added. The newspaper collected would have filled 90 refuse trucks.

A study made two years ago indicated a recycling program was needed since the present landfill would be depleted within five years if refuse were buried at the same daily rate as in past years.

Ontario has a unique recycling system since residents place their newspaper bundles on the curb on their regular trash collection days.

Employes, driving three-wheel vehicles, collect the newspapers and haul them to bins at various city parks. Refuse trucks collect the newspaper deposits each week. The newspapers are sold to the Garden State Paper Co. in Pomona.

The city has five part-time employes who work several hours a day in making the curbside collections. Although they receive the minimum wage, the monthly payroll now ranges from $750 to $800, said Wilkins.

The recycling program has had some competition from persons who illegally take newspaper bundles that residents have set out for the city crews. During January, these persons took an estimated 20 tons, thus reaping about $600 in profits.

Ross quits water basin exec post

E. Gil Ross has resigned from his post as general manager of the Chino Basin Municipal Water District effective May 1.

He reported that private business ventures had increased to where these demanded his full attention.

"The growth of my outside interests has forced me to make a choice between several options and I feel I must devote the time required to cultivate these other interests."

Ross was selected as general manager last year. He had previously served as general manager of the Pomona Valley Municipal Water District and general manager of the Mojave Water Agency.

Ross had also worked for the U.S. government as a water systems training director in Swaziland.

The five are Karen Stevenson, Cathy Swinton, Julie Swinton, Taryn Ice and Andrea Jones. They won medals at a Los Angeles County Field Day April 3.

An Upland man rescued from his blazing apartment after an explosion Thursday morning remained in poor condition this morning at San Bernardino County Hospital's burn ward.

The man, identified as M.L. Troxel of the 831 W. Orchid St. apartment complex was pulled out of his burning apartment by telephone company employe Roger Johnson from Claremont. Johnson told police that he was repairing a telephone line across the street from the apartments when he heard an explosion and saw the apartment burst into flames.

Johnson, with Upland Police Officer Louis Morales, who also heard the explosion, rushed to the apartment and tried to kick open the door. When the attempt failed, Morales opened a bedroom window. But Johnson managed to open the door and rushed inside the apartment first — where he found Troxel on a flaming bed.

Johnson said he dragged Troxel off the bed and finally Troxel managed to stand up and walk out the door. Johnson said Troxel told him, "I want to die. Leave me alone."

Police said a gallon gasoline can was found inside of the apartment near the bed.

Crash hurts Cucamongan

Larry Klock, 31, of 7831 Leucite St., was admitted to San Dimas Community Hospital's intensive care unit.

Officers reported that Ballard was also driving east on the freeway when for an unknown reason his truck nearly struck a center divider fence and then came to a stop on the roadway.

It's egg hunting time in Pomona

Easter egg hunts for children will be held at four Pomona parks Saturday morning sponsored by the city's Parks and Recreation Department.

The 10 a.m. hunts will be held at Kennedy, Palomares, Washington and Westmont Parks.

Two hunts will be held at each park, one for children up to kindergarten age and the other for first and second graders.

Children should be at the parks by 10 a.m. sharp with a basket or paper bag.

Can bankers scuttle reform?

After years of study and reports by two federal commissions and studies by congressional staffs, what has been called the most sweeping reform of the nation's financial system since the Depression years appears headed for a showdown in Congress.

The Financial Institutions Act of 1976 is expected momentarily to be reported out of the House Banking Committee. It goes from there to an uncertain fate in the Rules Committee before going to a vote before the whole House. If passed by the House, it must then be squared with a similar measure passed by the Senate last December.

The legislation actually consists of three separate bills, but the one of greatest interest to the ordinary consumer is one containing provisions that would wipe out many of the distinctions between commercial banks and savings and loans, mutual savings banks and credit unions — the so-called thrift institutions.

Consumers, for example, could open checking accounts at all types of financial institutions instead of just at commercial banks. Payment of interest on checking accounts would also be permitted as of January 1978.

Savings and loans and credit unions would be allowed to make loans for purposes they are now prohibited from making. Savings and loans, now largely limited to the mortgage loan field, could extend a loan to a customer for a new car, for example.

The present 10-year maturity limit on credit union loans, which has effectively kept credit unions out of the mortgage market, would be eliminated. Under the proposed legislation, credit unions could make loans to members for the purchase of construction of a residential dwelling with a maximum maturity of 30 years.

For both commercial banks and the thrifts, present limits on the amount of interest they can pay on savings deposits would be abolished five and a half years after enactment and they could then pay whatever rate they wanted, or the competition dictated.

The reform bill, in short, would make all types of financial institutions more similar to each other and thus increase the competition among them, say its backers. This in turn would bring consumers better and cheaper financial services, more interest on their money and make the housing industry and would-be home buyers less vulnerable to fluctuations in the availability of mortgage funds.

It is precisely this prospect of increased competition, however, as well as closer regulation of banks which is also included in the legislation, that has aroused the opposition of the commercial banking community, as represented by the American Bankers Association (ABA).

The ABA has officially adopted a policy of blanket condemnation of any financial reform legislation in the 94th Congress. In the words of Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis., "a phalanx of bankers" descended on Capitol Hill when the committee opened its hearings, seeking to have the legislation pigeonholed for yet further study.

According to columnist Jack Anderson, the ABA's political arm — BANKPAK — has handed out thousands of dollars in campaign contributions to key senators and congressmen, including at least 17 members of the House Banking Committee.

Nevertheless, the banking reform act seems to have not only strong support in Congress but the approval of the Ford administration. The real test, however, will come in the House Rules Committee, which will decide when, if ever, the legislation is offered for deliberation on the House floor.

"Preserve Panama"

Dear Editor:

Surrender of America's Panama Canal has been a long term goal of the one world Communist conspiracy. That you know, but brace yourself. Now Henry Kissinger and Ellsworth Bunker, Kissinger's negotiator and the man most responsible for the betrayal of South Vietnam, are saying that the United States doesn't own the Canal. To top that, and this will be beyond those who have yet to learn you can't trust a politician, President Ford is also openly capitulating America's Panama Canal! Perhaps Ford is set up as the "fall guy" in such a surrender so there can be more hope for that presidential hopeful, Nelson Rockefeller. Having just read The Rockefeller File by Gary Allen, no such trickery can surprise me.

By the terms of the Treaty of Panama signed in 1903, America bought the Canal Zone outright, "to the exclusion of the exercise by the Republic of Panama of any such sovereign rights, power, or authority." We paid good money for the land, built the Canal, and continued to pay a royalty of $2 million a year to the Panamanian government. Yet, since 1964, the State Department under Dean Rusk and Henry Kissinger has been trying to give away our Canal. Now it's up to "we the people." Open the locks and inundate the White House with short letters to President Ford. Demand that (1) he keep full ownership and full control of America's Panama Canal and (2) that he prove his patriotism by immediately dismissing those two men who would capitulate full ownership and/or full control of our Panama Canal: Ellsworth Bunker and Henry Kissinger. — F. World Peace Tax Fund

Dear Editor:

The Steering Committee of the Pomona Valley Council for Peace would like your readers to know about the proposed World Peace Tax Fund Act, HR 4897.

This legislation provides that a taxpayer conscientiously opposed to participation in war, as defined by the Military Selective Service Act, as amended, may elect to have his or her income, estate, or gift tax payments spent for non-military purposes. Funds collected would be spent for constructive, peace-related projects such as research and evaluation of non-military ways of resolving international conflict, disarmament efforts, international exchanges, improvement of international health, education and welfare, and providing the public with information about these activities.

The World Peace Tax Fund Act, HR 4897, is now in the House Ways and Means Committee awaiting hearings. The bill was first submitted by Congressman Ron Dellums in 1972. It now has 23 sponsors. Readers can help by writing to: The Honorable Al Ullman, Chairman, Ways and Means Comm. House of Representatives, Washington, DC 20515.

For additional information write to the Pomona Valley Council for Peace, Box 740, Claremont, or call 626-3935. — Cara Wingert, Pomona Valley Council for Peace.

Yes on Prop. 15

Dear Editor:

At a business meeting recently Claremont Friends Meeting endorsed a resolution adopted by the board of the Southern California Council of Churches supporting a YES vote on Proposition 15, the so-called nuclear safeguard initiative. Citing the demands of responsible stewardship and concern for "the healthy survival of life on our planet for the imaginable future," the Meeting agreed with the board that the safety of nuclear fission plants, with their long-lasting and lethal byproducts, is not now demonstrated or guaranteed. The Meeting urges careful study of the relevant issues between now and the June election by its members and citizens generally. — Ferner Nuhn, Claremont

The cautious lover

WASHINGTON — The late Howard Hughes, once one of Hollywood's most publicized playboys, consorted with women of rare beauty and international reputation. Yet he was really a cautious lover, secretly shy, who conducted elaborate surveillance of his women before making romantic advances.

The incredible details have been hidden for a quarter of a century behind the tight screen he drew around himself. We have partially unmasked the rich recluse as part of a larger investigation into his tangled financial-military-CIA ties.

We discovered, astonishingly, that in the '40s and '50s he turned his social life into a multimillion-dollar operation. He would go after a woman with the same methods he might seek to take over a corporation.

At least 100 women who struck his fancy were brought under electronic and physical surveillance. Among them were some of the world's most glamorous women, including Elizabeth Taylor, Sophia Loren, Ava Gardner and Janet Leigh.

The billionaire hired a private detective named Gerald Chouinard to spy on the lovelies. Because Hughes was hard of hearing, he couldn't get Chouinard's name straight. So the detective finally adopted the name Mike Conrad.

For 18 years, Conrad handled secret projects for Hughes, including the romantic espionage. The billionaire followed the surveillance reports closely. Once, he suggested Conrad could keep a closer watch on actress Elizabeth Taylor in her second-floor Hollywood apartment by setting up an observation post on a telephone pole across the street.

Another time, Hughes was eager to date actress Janet Leigh and had her followed wherever she went. The surveillance reports enabled Hughes to surprise her with opportune visits. It happened so often, she told us, that she finally realized it "wasn't a coincidence anymore."

Finally, she asked Hughes outright why he didn't "just ask me out." Hughes promptly asked and she accepted, with the provision that her parents go along. The four had a pleasant dinner at the Sportsmen's Lodge.

Not until later did she learn about the surveillance when Hughes "showed me the reports."

A number of famous actresses had Hughes' watchdogs on their trail. He arranged for Ava Gardner to be followed to a bullfight in Tijuana; Anne Bancroft was tailed for a brief period; Hughes even planted a spy aboard a fishing yacht to observe Jean Peters and her husband Stuart Cramer on their honeymoon. Later, the actress divorced Cramer and married Hughes.

The tall, lean, heavy-lidded billionaire would also take a sudden fancy to an unknown girl whom he might spot in a car or whose picture he might see in a magazine. More than once, he ordered his investigators to trace the license plates of a car carrying a pretty girl. Once, he searched for a girl who appeared in cap and gown on a Life magazine cover.

Perhaps Hughes' most extravagant romantic escapade occurred following a Miss Universe contest. He was captivated by so many of the beauties that he actually set up a special company, called Black Gold Productions, to arrange dates with him for a dozen finalists.

He kept a photographer on 24-hour call to photograph the women who stirred his interest. Once, the photographer flew all the way to Italy to shoot pictures of Sophia Loren. Hughes always wanted close-ups of the girls without makeup. Then the negatives would be printed unretouched and would be rushed to the waiting Hughes.

If he liked what he saw, he might offer the girl a movie contract. Sometimes, he had a career in mind for her; other times he had more personal designs.

Legend of the dogwood tree

So far as I know this story is not fact, but it may be the oldest legend of the Christian era. I have sought to backtrack this story to its source. It's no use. Don't look for it in the Bible; it is not there.

Of all those who have retold it, none ever signed his name to it. When you retell it, please do not credit me. Generations have kept this story alive only because it seemed deserving of living. That does not make it "immortal," but interesting.

It is the legend of the dogwood tree. Visiting the Holy Land I discovered the legend is told there much the same as I first heard it half a world away. And that is strange. There are so many possibilities for expanding and elaborating on this yarn, I was quite surprised to hear it repeated simply and unadorned.

By some it is repeated as fact. By others it is told to babies at bedtime, more as American mothers tell fairy tales. Yet, Disney gave dignity to those — even credulity. So generations of repetition have lent credibility to the legend of the dogwood tree.

It is said that at the time of the Crucifixion of Christ the dogwood was a very large tree, big as an oak. The Dogwood was so even-textured, firm and strong that it was chosen as the timber for the Cross. Thus to be used for such a cruel purpose greatly distressed the tree. Jesus sensed this.

He, who noted even the sparrow's fall, whose last compassion was for a repentant thief, similarly forgave the repentant dogwood tree for its unfortunate fate. As He was nailed upon it, He sensed the painful remorse of the tree.

In gentle pity for all sorrow and suffering of every living thing, He said to the tree: "Because of your share of my suffering, never again shall the dogwood tree grow large enough and strong enough to be put to such a purpose as this."

He said, "Henceforth, the dogwood shall be slender and bent and twisted, that it might forever remain unmolested by the tools of cruel men."

And the blossoms shall be in the form of a cross — Two long petals and two short.

And in the center of each petal there will be nail prints —

Brown with rust and stained with red.

And in the center of the flower will be a crown — of thorns.

And all who pass and see the dogwood tree Will remember me.

And so it came to pass.

Just in jest

Justice isn't only blind — sometimes in its infinite wisdom, it is also just plain dumb. Here, for instance is an example of what bureaucratic thinking on the subject of criminal rehabilitation can bring about. — A fellow with two convictions for forcible rape, about whom medical authorities were in agreement that he was dangerous and not amenable to treatment, was recently paroled. He has now been convicted of the kidnapping and first degree murder of a 15 year old girl.

And speaking of justice in its infinite wisdom, here's how some criminals manage to fare better than others when it comes to paying for their crimes. — They make certain that someone else is involved with them in their criminal activities. That way, when they get caught and convicted, they can immediately start plea bargaining and agree to turn stool pigeon in return for a lighter sentence.

Finally, under the heading of, "There Just Ain't No Justice," how about this for a typical example? — Apparently, so far as the folks in charge of freeway and street name changing are concerned, porno film star Linda Lovelace can do no wrong. Anyway, though in their infinite wisdom they have seen fit to change the name of Nixon Freeway, Lovelace Avenue still remains Lovelace Avenue.

Eliminating plea bargaining

Editor's note: During his hospitalization, top state officials are filling in for Earl G. Waters. Today his guest is Dennis E. Carpenter, State Senator, 36th District.)

Plea bargaining in our modern criminal justice system has evolved from a time-saving expediency to become a major subversion of the system which neither promotes justice nor public confidence in our court system.

The idea that justice can be bargained violates the basic issue of what Americans believe justice to be. It is repugnant to the public, law enforcement officers and to victims of crime.

Plea bargaining occurs when the prosecutor, defense attorney judge and defendant agree that the criminal will plead guilty to a lesser offense or fewer offenses than he was originally charged with in return for a lighter sentence than he would receive if convicted of the actual crime or crimes he committed.

The historic, basic and perhaps only justification for plea bargaining is the assumption that it is necessary to prevent overcrowding in the courts. Proponents of this judicial barter system base their arguments on this assumption yet there is no statistical evidence or other proof of its validity. On the contrary, there is mounting evidence that the percentage rate of cases disposed of without trial is determined largely by factors other than plea bargaining.

The arguments used to defend plea bargaining are not based on justice but on the premise that our courts are too crowded to properly administer justice and thus must compromise that justice for the sake of expediency.

I find this to be basically dishonest and demoralizing to victims of crime, the public and to law enforcement.

The victim and his family lose faith in our justice system when the criminal who, for example, robbed him at gunpoint and maybe even shot him, is allowed to plead guilty to the lesser offense of simple assault and placed on probation or parole.

The demoralization is even greater for the policeman who arrested the criminal, possibly at the risk of his own life, and developed the evidence in the case only to find his efforts bargained away for a guilty plea on a less serious and sometimes unrelated charge and the criminal back on the streets.

A primary goal of a criminal justice system is to convict the guilty so that society may be protected from further offense. Plea bargaining is a major factor in our present system under which more than 60% of all criminals convicted of major felonies in this state had prior records and one in every five were on probation or parole for some other criminal act when they committed their latest crime.

I believe we will have a just system and a reduction in crime when plea bargaining is eliminated and when every person contemplating a criminal act knows with certainty that he will be caught, tried, found guilty and appropriately punished for that crime if he commits it.

I have introduced Senate Bill 1449 which would prohibit judges and district attorneys from negotiating with persons charged with a crime until a finding of guilt or innocence has been made for the crime charged. The bill is sponsored by and has the full support of Attorney General Evelle Younger.

The elimination of plea bargaining will promote more uniformity of sentencing by removing sentencing decisions from the many attorneys involved and restoring them to the few judges, where the sentencing function properly belongs.

House payment in large jump

We are writing to you in hopes that you can help us understand how our house payments can jump from $152 monthly to $194.

As my husband is the only wage earner and his pay isn't very high, we had to get a two-bedroom house when we needed a three-bedroom house. Now we can't make the payments on the two-bedroom house.

We took your problem to the Los Angeles County Tax Assessor's Office.

You had failed to claim your homeowner's exemption when you purchased your home recently. Other variables also contributed to the increase.

Upon receiving our inquiry, Steve Stewart, deputy assessor, got in touch with you and urged you to file for the exemption before the April 15 deadline.

You made a special $200 payment to your mortgagee to reduce your monthly payments to $177 and the homeowner's exemption will bring it down to the neighborhood of $150 in November.

In 1931 I purchased a tax anticipation warrant from the City of Chicago against the school building purposes tax for the same year.

I have been endeavoring for the past few years to collect on it.

When one is so far away it is difficult to transact business without being given the runaround.

I was wondering if you could find out more about this matter and help me get it straightened out. — E.N., Rowland Heights.

We wrote to Chicago's board of education, enclosing a copy of your warrant.

Fred J. Stubitsch, director of finance, said the possibility that you can collect on the warrant is practically nil.

He said your warrant is 4,125 numbers removed from the last warrant called in for payment, on June 2, 1971.

"At the present time there are not enough funds available to pay one warrant on this fund," he said.

In Chicago such warrants can only be paid from collections on 1931 tax levies for the building fund. As the years go, Stubitsch said, warrants trickle in at a lesser degree.

A little quiz for drinkers

Dear Ann: Please print these questions. You may answer the BIG problem in many families.

1 — Do you worry about your spouse's drinking?

2 — Have you ever been embarrassed by it?

3 — Are holidays more of a nightmare than a celebration because of your spouse's behavior due to alcohol?

4 — Are most of your spouse's friends heavy drinkers?

5 — Does your spouse often promise to quit drinking, without success?

6 — Does your spouse's drinking make the atmosphere in the home tense and anxious?

7 — Does your spouse deny a drinking problem because your spouse drinks only beer?

8 — Do you find it necessary to lie to employer, relatives, or friends in order to hide your spouse's drinking?

9 — Has your spouse ever failed to remember what occurred during a drinking period?

10 — Does your spouse avoid conversation pertaining to alcohol or problem drinking?

12 — Does your spouse avoid social situations where alcoholic beverages will NOT be served?

13 — Do you ever feel guilty about your spouse's drinking?

14 — Has your spouse driven a vehicle while under the influence of alcohol?

15 — Are your children afraid of your spouse while he or she is drinking?

16 — Are you afraid of physical or verbal abuse when your spouse is drinking?

17 — Has another person mentioned your spouse's unusual drinking behavior?

18 — Do you fear riding with your spouse when he or she is drinking?

19 — Does your spouse have periods of remorse after a drinking occasion and apologize for unacceptable behavior?

20 — Does drinking less alcohol bring about the same effects in your spouse as in the past required more?

According to the Division of Alcoholism and Drug Abuse, if you have answered YES to five or more of these questions there is definitely a serious drinking problem in your family.

The Japanese have no "l" in their "ranguage." Rots of ruck with this one, Ann Randers. — Tokyo Theresa

Dear Tokyo: My friend and tax accountant, Frank Takahashi, tells me you are right. There is no "l" in the Japanese language, but sometimes the Japanese use medical or technical terms adapted from the English. The report of the surgical procedure did indeed appear on the wire services and I believe it was a legitimate story. If I was taken in, so were millions of others. At any rate it was an "l" of a good story.

Valley going to the dogs

Some 25 years ago when I moved to the bucolic environs of Claremont, the village boasted 9,000 residents and one traffic light (at Foothill and Indian Hill). There was only one elementary school (sssssycamore); orange and lemon groves stood in serried ranks about the town, and dogs ran as freely as children.

Time (and I) have seen many changes since those innocent days of yore — things one loved and cherished have twindled and vanished; necessary evils have flourished. One of the changes has been the registering of the family dog (Ord. 72-19, Sec. 4-14). In violation of the spirit of independence that made this country great, we have enslaved the faithful canine, chained and leashed him, plugged him with vaccines and imprisoned him in patios and back yards. Valley dogs have learned the meaning of "a dog's life."

Our resident canine is a large, shaggy creature of mixed ancestry, closely related to a werewolf on his mother's side. An amiable, gregarious beast, he required nothing more to make him happy than a romp with the children, a spirited pursuit of a snarling motorcycle, and an occasional nip of postman. Duffy is a romantic and an adventurer, a canine Candide in this best of all possible worlds. What does he know of the Humane Society or Ord. 72-19, Sec. 4-14?

Comes now an ominous notice from the Humane Society of Pomona Valley warning that a Humane Officer will soon "call upon" you to see if your dog is licensed and inoculated. "Should he find that you are harboring an unlicensed dog, he will issue a citation for violation of the City Animal Ordinance." (I don't know if he will take Duffy or me to the pound, but if you hear me woofing from cage No. 3 some afternoon, give my wife a call, will you?)

"It is unlawful," intones Ord. 72-19, Sec. 4-14, "to keep a dog within the city for more than 15 days unless the animal is properly licensed." Why should sweet old Duffy be treated like a dog? That "Call upon you" is rich. Sounds like a social visit. Your guest drops in for a cup of tea and, having polished off the last of the macaroons, he writes you a citation. What would Emily Post say?

Or, more in keeping with the cop shows the kids make me watch on television, I hear the wailing of sirens and my house is surrounded by Humane Society trucks, red lights flashing, officers with their nets and muzzles ready. Humane Officer Bruce Richards crouches behind a hedge and calls through a bullhorn to the paralyzed household, "Okay, Duffy! We know you're in there. Your 15 days are up! Come out with your paws in the air."

Friendly, eager, slightly spastic, Duffy would go bounding out to meet this new adventure. I presume Richards would frisk him and put the paw-cuffs on him.

"You have a right to remain silent," the Humane Officer would say. "You have a right to an attorney, but anything you bark will be taken down and used against you in court."

So they would haul my faithful canine off to the pokey, and I would get on the phone to F. Lee Bailey to defend him in court. I can see the mutt sitting on the witness stand while the prosecuting attorney glowers and the court bailiff says, "Do you, Duffy, promise to woof the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth?"

Things were a lot more peaceful in the olden tymes before the Humane Society began dogging my steps.

Two types of diabetic shock

DEAR DR. LAMB — Recently in a doctor's waiting room I witnessed a lady said to be in diabetic shock. My husband and son-in-law are both diabetics. Is there any way to predict such a seizure? What can be done as a preventive?

Can you give us a few pointers on this neglected subject? What measures can be used to successfully resuscitate a victim of diabetic shock or coma?

DEAR READER — Whether you are talking about diabetic coma or hypoglycemic shock from too much insulin is of extreme importance. When a person is unconscious it might be very difficult for a person not skilled in medicine to make the distinction.

Diabetic coma is associated with a very high blood sugar level. The elimination of sugar in large amounts of urine leads to a marked decrease in blood volume causing dehydration and shock. About the only thing a non-medical person can do to help these individuals is to leave them lying flat, keep them warm, make sure that they have an airway to breathe through and try to get expert medical help as quickly as possible.

The only successful treatment for these people is to increase the blood volume immediately with fluids through a needle in the vein. Skilled medical personnel give much larger amounts of insulin than is commonly used in the daily management of that individual's diabetes and take whatever measures necessary to restore the chemical balance of the body.

Diabetic coma is often caused by stopping taking insulin. For example, some diabetics have the idea that if they don't eat they don't need to take insulin. It's true that your insulin is standardized to your diet but even if you are eating nothing the body will be converting protein to sugar and causing a high blood sugar level unless some insulin is taken.

Another frequent cause for diabetic coma is the added demands imposed by an infection such as an abscess, pneumonia or some other infectious process.

Some diabetics get too much insulin and go into insulin shock. This is caused by the blood sugar being very low. It causes the symptoms of hypoglycemia induced by pouring out of adrenaline from the adrenal glands. This includes the sweatiness and the pallor and the shaking. These individuals need glucose or sugar. If they are conscious enough to drink orange juice with some sugar in it that's fine. If they are unconscious then intravenous glucose is necessary and will eliminate the symptoms in very short order.

Again, unless you know which you are dealing with, it's wise not to meddle but get expert medical attention as quickly as possible. A diabetic who has a severe insulin reaction should see his doctor right away even if he recovers by taking orange juice with sugar or other sweeteners. There may need to be some adjustments in regulating the insulin to the diet and daily activities.

East played low and it was up to Pete to decide whether or not to take the trump finesse. The game was match point duplicate and if Pete lost that finesse, West would probably give his partner a club ruff and Pete would be held to his contract. On the other hand if Pete did not take the finesse it would have wound up making five instead of six.

What did Pete do? He rose with the ace and wound up making five hearts.

Did he refuse the finesse because he was a pessimist? No. He refused it because he wanted it to be wrong. Pete had really underbid his hand. Surely some slam try was indicated after that heart raise. Therefore, Pete reasoned that a lot of pairs would be in a slam which would depend on the heart finesse. Pete would get some points if the finesse were wrong and very few if it were right.

The official definition is that it is a bid or call that by agreement, not inference, gives or requests information unrelated to the denomination named. Thus, when you bid four notrump to ask for aces you are using the Blackwood convention.

SLEEP

It's the contention of a University of Florida scholar that the children today sleep 90 minutes less per night than did the children of 1917. This authority attributes the statistical change to television. The question promptly arises whether the cutback in sleep hurts the youngsters now. If so, that's not apparent.

Again am asked why the right whale was so named. Because that whale does not sink when killed in the water. Most whales do. So the early hunters designated it the right whale inasmuch as it was the one they could tow along the surface of the water back to their ships.

Dionne's hat trick turns on L.A. fans

By BILL LANGLEY
PB Sports Editor

INGLEWOOD — Los Angeles sports fans have a new love affair.

Hockey reached its height in Southern California Thursday night when the underdog Kings beat the established Boston Bruins, 6-4, to go ahead 2-1 in the quarterfinals of the Stanley Cup playoffs.

L.A. also loves its heroes and Marcel Dionne fills that billing to the letter after he scored three goals for a hat trick to lead the attack in Thursday's win.

When Dionne scored his third goal on a 45-foot slap shot with 17:09 to go in the third period to give the Kings a 4-3 lead, it felt like an earthquake struck the Forum.

The capacity crowd of 16,005 excited hockey buffs erupted for a two-minute standing ovation and threw hats on the ice as an embarrassed Dionne tried to hide.

"Those fans were going crazy, weren't they?," Dionne said. "I've had some ovations before but never like that. I got goose bumps. If there was a place to hide, I would have."

The Kings, who were blanked 4-0 by the Bruins in the opener of the series, have rallied twice thanks to Dionne's five goals to win the last two games.

Action returns to the Forum for the fourth game Saturday night and the Kings have already announced it is also a sellout.

Thursday's performance by Dionne certainly paid back his boss, Jack Kent Cooke, for the controversial trade bringing the high scorer from the Detroit Red Wings.

The Kings didn't enjoy as successful a regular season as last year and many critics felt Cooke gave up too much to get Dionne.

But the deal has paid its dividends now with Dionne being the spark in the playoffs. This is the first time in the club's history that L.A. has enjoyed an edge in a Stanley Cup playoff against a team judged to be superior.

In fact, the Boston writers made fun of L.A. after that opening 4-0 win and described Dionne a $1.5 million "klinker". Obviously, the reaction in Beantown must be different after Marcel scored two goals to lead a 3-2 overtime victory in Boston Tuesday night plus the hat trick Thursday.

"My reaction to the article in Boston was that I was upset," Dionne said. "But when I scored my first goal in Boston, it gave me a big lift. Now I don't mind if they keep writing that stuff. I just keep trying to do my best."

The fans were in peak form all night. The Kings were greeted by a standing ovation when they took the ice while the Bruins heard nothing but boos.

Boston grabbed an early 2-0 lead on goals by Gregg Sheppard and Brad Park but the Kings immediately rallied to tie it a 2-2 after the first period.

Mike Murphy scored on a power play on a 40-foot shot which eluded Boston goalie Gilles Gilbert and Dionne followed with his first goal to even the score.

Dionne made it 3-2 in the second period but Boston tied it again on Don Marcotte's goal. The period was featured some excellent play by the Kings' defense. L.A. held Boston without a shot for 9½ minutes.

After Dionne's third goal restored the lead, L.A. jumped quickly to a bigger lead on goals by Dan Kozak and Bob Nevin as the crowd roared. Boston got one final score from Dallas Smith but it wasn't enough to change the momentum.

"Don't anybody get any false impressions," he said. "This is going to be a tough series. We played very, very hard to come back after being down 2-0. It was a great effort by our team, especially after such a bad start."

Boston knows it will have to stop Dionne if it hopes to restore order.

"Dionne was super and somebody will have to stop him," said Coach Don Cherry.

Dodger turnout was incredible

The Dodgers and Angels are off to slow starts, but the attendance has ranged from good (for the Halos) to incredible (for the Dodgers).

The Dodgers "Jacket Series" gimmick paid off beautifully for Fred Claire. The former PB Sports Editor has a running start in his second year as Dodger Veep.

Next on the docket is Ball Night scheduled for April 23 when the Chicago Cubs open the next Dodger homestand. Fred wisely is shoring up the weaker attractions with promotions that figure to thicken the flow of fans through the turnstiles.

Promotion or not, the attendance figures were nothing short of phenomenal for the games with San Diego.

The rains hit Dodger Stadium at 5:50 p.m. Monday. The downpour continued and the game was finally officially postponed at 8:15 p.m.

Sellouts astounding

Yet a sellout was announced an hour earlier as cars continued to pour into the parking lots. The fact that the Tuesday and Wednesday games were also sellouts is even more astounding.

Both days were cloudy, threatening and cold. You would have thought that would have scared people away. Also, the Padres are not that much of an attraction (yet). The Dodgers were (and still are) winless in the young season.

Yet 52,703 turned out Tuesday night to see the Angelenos lose 8-5 and another 52,219 were there Wednesday to witness a disappointing 3-1 loss.

That's 104,922 for two games and it would have been 156,000 plus for three games if they had been able to play Monday night! It's another amazing example of the long-standing love-affair between the fans and the Dodgers.

The Dodgers are said to be aiming at a record season attendance of three million. However, it's doubtful they'll draw that many unless the pennant race is tight all the way to the finish.

Reds even better

Right now it appears the Cincinnati Reds are even better this year than they were last year. On the other hand, the Dodgers, even if they are not beset with the injuries that took them out the race early last year, have been weakened by two things.

One, of course, is the loss of Andy Messersmith. The other is a much weaker bench due to the Dusty Baker Trade. And Baker, remember, is unproven merchandise yet. He has great potential. But so did Willie Davis.

One thing that has been evident so far is that the Dodgers are still very much in need of a lefthanded power hitter. That was supposedly what they were looking for all winter. Yet they dealt for the righthanded Baker.

Dave Lopes should be able to play soon. That will give the club another offensive weapon. Defensively the Dodgers were not a good fielding club last year. How much, if any, improvement there is remains to be seen.

The Angels have been staggering along without Bobby Bonds. He, like Lopes, should be back soon. That can't help but pick up the Halos.

So far the pitching has been both disappointing and promising.

Kingman on streak

By Associated Press

Dave "King Kong" Kingman hasn't leaped over any tall buildings yet, but he has learned to hit baseballs over them.

The rangy 6-foot-6, 210-pound New York strongman unloaded two herculean home runs Thursday, the second a three-run blast in the ninth inning, powering the Mets to a 10-8 victory over the stunned Chicago Cubs.

Both homers went out of Wrigley Field and gave Kingman a season's total of four, all tape-measure blasts. Although three of them were hit in Chicago, Kingman said he didn't think he would like to play there regularly.

Kingman sent his first homer rocketing out of Wrigley Field Wednesday, a drive that reportedly traveled more than 600 feet. Thursday, he drilled a two-run homer over the left centerfield wall in the second inning off Bill Bonham. Then, with the Mets trailing 8-7 in the ninth, he followed singles by John Milner and Del Unser with a tremendous smash over the left field wall off Tom Dettore, the same pitcher he had victimized Wednesday.

John looks for first Dodger win

ATLANTA (AP) — Tommy John, a sore-armed left-hander who has not thrown a major league pitch in nearly two years, hopes to snap the winless Los Angeles Dodgers out of their early season slump tonight when he faces the newlook Atlanta Braves.

"He's had four or five outings this spring and every time he has shown improvement," said Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston of the 32-year-old John, who last pitched on July 17, 1974.

John, 13-2 at the time, tore a ligament in his left arm. When rest failed to heal the injury, he underwent surgery last June.

The 6-foot-3, 185-pounder was scheduled to start Los Angeles' second game of the season against San Francisco, but the contest was rained out.

Alston said he did not know how long John would go against the Braves, who have a 3-2 record with a revamped squad due primarily to a major trade with the Dodgers.

"I'll just feel my way around," said Alston. "I don't think I'll let him go nine innings, but the amount of innings don't count, it's the number of balls he throws.

"I'll just have to play it by ear, see how he feels," said Alston of the 11-year veteran who has a lifetime 124-106 record, including 40-15 in 2½ years with the Dodgers.

During the off-season, the Dodgers acquired Dusty Baker and Ed Goodson from the Braves for Jim Wynn, Lee Lacy, Jerry Royster and Tom Paciorek. Only last week, Atlanta signed free agent Andy Messersmith, a two-time 20-game winner who won 19 games with Los Angeles last season.

"Baker has been doing very well for us so far," said Alston. "It's much too early to tell how the trade will work out. You'll be able to tell in about a year or so."

Hurls Angels to 5-1 win

Ryan flashes old form

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nolan Ryan's fastball was awesome Thursday night.

The flamethrower of the California Angels flashed the same velocity and magnetism that made him the most electrifying pitcher in baseball.

The painful series of injuries which sidelined him last year and plunged his future into uncertainty seemed like a distant memory, he smiled, after pinning a 5-1 defeat on the Kansas City Royals.

The modest Texas native gave up just four hits and struck out nine and squared his 1976 mark at 1-1. He has given up just five hits in 16 innings.

"I've had better stuff, but I'm happy," he said. "There was no pain at all."

Last September surgeons removed four bone chips from his right elbow and there was concern that he might never be effective again.

"I think I was throwing as well and felt as strong in the ninth as in the first," he said. "To me, that's a good sign my arm is as good as ever."

"It's the same old Ryan," said first baseman John Mayberry. "That man throws harder than anybody I've ever seen in a baseball park. You can't hit bullets."

Ryan's shutout bid evaporated in the fifth inning when Fred Patek singled and stole second and came home on a double by Frank White. The only other Royal safeties were singles by Hal McRae and George Brett.

California, staked to a 1-0 lead in the first on a wild pitch by Paul Splittorff, 0-2, erupted for three more runs in the third. Andy Etchebarren, who had three hits for the night, led off with a single. Orlando Ramirez, who also collected three safeties, moved him to second with a single, and both came home on Bruce Bochte's single-base hit.

In the fifth Ramirez doubled and scored on a passed ball, and in the sixth Rusty Torres scored on a double by Etchebarren.

"Looked good, didn't he," grinned California manager Dick Williams. "I think he's going to have another great year. The only time he got in trouble was when he started to hang curve balls."

Pomona, California ■ Friday, April 16, 1976

Royals skipper Whitey Herzog was with the New York Mets when they signed Ryan out of high school in 1965 and he agreed the powerful righthander had never looked better.

"It's the same old Nolie, no doubt about it. His velocity was as good as I've ever seen it, and his control was better. He's just a super guy, and a hard worker. I knew he would overcome all that adversity last year."

ANGEL ANGLES — The Halos return to the Big A tonight to open a six-game home stand.

The Detroit Tigers are in for the weekend. Baltimore's Orioles come in Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Don Kirkwood (0-1) faces Joe Coleman (1-0) tonight at 7:30 p.m.

Saturday's and Sunday's games are day games with 1 p.m. starts. Gary Ross (0-0) gets his first start Saturday which also is Bat Day. Lefthander Dave Roberts (0-0) will be the Tiger starter.

Sunday's pitching matchup pits Andy Hassler (0-1) against Ray Bare (0-0).

Free Adirondack bats will be given to youngsters 14 and under Saturday. That also is the day Bobby Bonds is eligible to come off the disabled list.

Four Angels are on the 1976 All-Star ballot. Bonds is a repeat nominee although it's his first time as a Halo. The other three, second baseman Jerry Remy, third baseman Dave Chalk and outfielder Lee Stanton, are on it for the first time.

Monday night will be Family Night with all field, club and terrace seats at half price and all view level seats only $1.

Elks Tournament title game tonight

Action in the rain-delayed Pomona Elks High School Baseball Tourney was scheduled to end today, with the finals in the championship, consolation and third place brackets on tap.

Weather and field conditions permitting, Damien met Royal Oak at 9 a.m. this morning for the consolation championship. That game had originally been scheduled for a 5 p.m. start but due to Good Friday services, Damien school officials requested the earlier starting time.

Fontana and Covina were scheduled to play at 2:30 p.m. for the third place title.

The championship game will go on tonight at 7:30 p.m. at Ralph Welch Park. In that contest tourney unbeatens Edgewood and La Puente (both members of the Sierra League) will lock horns.

Edgewood, now 18-1 on the year and the number-one ranked team in the CIF 3A Division, easily beat LaPuente 10-0 earlier this year in a Sierra League contest. However, the Warriors have looked sharp in their four Elks outings, outscoring opponents 24-3, and figure to give the Trojans a real tussle tonight.

Relays has international flavor

By MIKE BROSSART
PB Staff Writer

Next week's Mt. San Antonio Relays will have more of an international flavor than ever before, according to Relays chairman Don Ruh.

"We'll be flying the flags of about 18 different countries," Ruh said. Already on the Relays roster are athletes from Australia, Canada, Nationalist China, England, Finland, France, Germany, Italy, Jamaica Japan, Kenya, Mexico, Norway, Romania, Senegal, Sweden and of course, the United States.

"The bulk of the Canadian and Mexican Olympic teams are coming," said Ruh, "and we've just officially invited the Chinese National Team."

The Relays will be in no short supply of American Olympians, either. Among them will be discus throwers John Powell and Jay Silvester, decathlete Jeff Bennett, long jumper Arnie Robinson, sprinter Chuck Smith and javelin throwers Bill Smith and Kathy Schmidt.

World record holders coming to the Relays include Powell and shot putter Terry Albritton of the University of Hawaii, who recently recorded a put of 71 feet, 8½ inches.

Also on hand as special guests of the Relays Committee will be some 20 past Olympians now living in California — ranging from Glenn Graham, a silver medalist pole vaulter in the 1924 Olympic Games in Paris, to Sherry Calvert and Sandi Tyler, who competed in the 1972 Games in Munich.

Claremont's Fortune Gordien, who won a bronze medal in the discus in 1948, placed fourth in 1952 and took a silver in 1956, will be on hand. His son Marcus, a student at MSAC, held the national junior college discus record earlier this year.

Ruh expects the Relays to be bigger than ever this year, with between 3,500 and 4,000 athletes involved on all levels from novice to invitational.

"The field looks extremely strong in every event," he said. "To give you an idea, we'll have four pole vaulters who have gone over 18 feet and a dozen or so more who have gone 17 feet. The top high jumper we have so far is Tom Woods, who's gone 7-5.

"Our 400-meter entries are unbelievable. They're so good we have to run two sections in that and in the 100 in the Open Division. The Macabi Union Track Club, the Pacific Coast Track Club, the Beverly Hills Striders and the Bay Area Striders will all be there. So will the University of Texas at El Paso, the national collegiate champion."

Other major universities involved will include UCLA, USC, Washington, Stanford, University of California, Arizona, Arizona State, Nevada and Utah. Nearly all the smaller universities and colleges in Southern California will be represented.

"We'll have some exciting high school matchups," said Ruh. "The 400-meter, 800-meter and 1600-meter relays all look excellent. And in the two mile we'll have Eric Hulst and Thom Hunt (the top two prep two milers in the nation) as well as Pomona High's Barry Boettcher.

"Some fine junior colleges will be coming, including San Jose City, Alameda and Mesa, Ariz. (the national JC champion). They're so strong they plan to compete in the Open Division rather than the JC Division. Mesa will try to break the national record in the 440, 880 and possibly even the mile relays."

Since this is an Olympic year, the Relays will be run in metric distances. In fact, they will be every year from now on.

"In the past, we've gone metric every fourth year — the Olympic years — so that people could qualify for the Olympics here. But from now on we'll stay metric all the time," said Ruh.

"We've installed photo-electric timing accurate to one-hundredth of a second. That's necessary for Olympic qualification.

"We'll even be selling a conversion calculator at the Relays to help track fans convert from feet to meters and so on. The Relays Committee designed it and has it copyrighted, and it's being manufactured in New Jersey. We're not trying to make a profit — we just want to help the track fans."

Leafs use 'miracle' to knock off Flyers

TORONTO (AP) — Toronto Maple Leafs' Coach Red Kelly called it a miracle, but the numerous power play opportunities presented by Philadelphia appeared to be the prime reason for the Leafs' 5-4 victory over the Flyers in their Stanley Cup contest Thursday night.

"It was a miracle to beat that team," Kelly said after the Leafs beat Philadelphia for the first time in 20 regular-season and playoff games between the two clubs.

The Flyers took a record 28 penalties for a total of 87 minutes, giving the Leafs plenty of power play opportunities. Toronto used them to score all of their goals: by rookie Scott Garland, Claire Alexander, Errol Thompson, Ian Turnbull and Stan Weir.

Bobby Clarke, Gary Dornhoefer, Jim Watson and Bill Barber scored for the Flyers.

In other NHL quarter-final matches, the New York Islanders topped Buffalo 5-3, Montreal defeated Chicago 2-1, and Los Angeles downed Boston 6-4.

Clarke's goal also came on a power play, bringing the total of power play goals in the game to six—tying a Stanley Cup record set in 1939 and tied twice since.

The Flyers' total of 28 penalties broke the record of 27 set by the New York Islanders in a playoff game against New York Rangers last year. Philadelphia's 17 penalties in the second period also broke the record for one period of a playoff game. The record had been 12 penalties set by the Montreal Canadiens in 1966 and tied five times since.

Clarke said he thought the Flyers probably deserved a lot of the penalties.

"I think we were fairly undisciplined tonight," said Clarke. "I don't think we'll be that way Saturday night."

Islanders 5, Sabres 3

Goals by Bill MacMillan and Billy Harris in a span of 35 seconds snapped a tie and gave New York its first Stanley Cup quarter-final victory over Buffalo. The Sabres lead the series 2-1 with the next game scheduled for Saturday night on the Islanders' home ice.

New York took a 2-0 lead on goals by Harris and Jude Drouin. J.P. Parise scored the other Islanders tally while Gil Perreault, Don Luce and Rick Martin tied it for the Sabres. Then, with 11:04 gone in the third period, MacMillan shoved a loose puck into the net and Harris followed just 35 seconds later with his second goal of the night.

"We kept our composure and we didn't panic when they tied us," Harris said. "That's the secret of a good club. We bounced back in the third period."

Canadiens 2, Black Hawks 1

Guy Lafleur slammed home a tie-breaking goal with 13 seconds to play to push Montreal past Chicago and give the Canadiens a 3-0 lead in their quarter-final series. The Canadiens can close out the Hawks with a victory Sunday night.

Yvon Lambert scored Montreal's first goal at 5:21 of the second period while the Black Hawks, held to only one goal in two previous games, tied the game on a goal by Pit Martin at 17:49 of the third period. Less than two minutes later, Lafleur scored the winning goal.

"They didn't go into any shell," said Chicago Coach Billy Reay of the Canadiens. "They played their game...they just keep coming at you."

Scotty Bowman, Montreal coach, said: "We played a hell of a game. In fact, I think we played a perfect game."

Sports briefs

The starters, especially Frank Tanana, have disappointed. The relievers have shown enough promise to give hope that the "arson squad" is gone. Dick Drago, in particular, looks like he will be the consistent relief hurler so desperately needed.

The trouble spots remain shortstop and center field. Mike Miley, who started at short the last half of last year, has been sent out for much needed seasoning. Miley only averaged .209 at Salt Lake City last season and fell off to .174 with the Angels.

So Orlando Ramirez and Billy Smith are what is left and what is left is not enough. Ramirez is terribly inconsistant both at the plate and in the field. He has appeared to be ball shy both at bat and afield.

Smith has not played regularly. If he did he might reach the journeyman level.

The centerfield problem was covered at length in this column two weeks ago. The situation is unchanged.

AROUND THE SPORTS BEAT: Bill Weurding of the San Diego Tribune revealed the events behind the signing of Andy Messersmith by Atlanta.

Larry Foster, a 35-year-old businessman, not connected with the Braves, did the job. Foster, who has heating and air conditioning business in Atlanta, is a red hot Braves' fan.

According to Weurding, Foster called new Braves owner Ted Turner and asked for permission to negotiate with Messersmith on behalf of the Atlanta team. Turner, who had not tried to sign Andy, agreed because he had nothing to lose.

Foster got to California just about the time San Diego Padres broke off negotiations and Padre owner Ray Kroc blasted Messersmith for being "arrogant" and saying Messersmith should work in a car wash.

Kroc had offered Andy a four-year contract worth $1.15 million.

"I could see the time was right," said Foster. "Actually the hardest thing was getting hold of Andy's agent, Herb Osmond. I must have called his secretary 12 times before I finally made contact. After that it was easy. I simply asked Osmond what he wanted. He spelled it out for me and I said, 'Fine. I'll get back to you right away. But if the Braves are willing to make this deal, will you sign?'

"Osmond said, 'yes. I'm 99.9 percent sure Andy will agree to that deal if the Braves will."

The Braves were and the deal was consummated.

And that's the way a millionaire (Messersmith) is made today. For his work, Foster received a baseball autographed by all the Braves players, nothing more!

Pistons even Bucks' series

By Associated Press

The Pistons, despite Milwaukee's torrid 63 per cent shooting from the field, defeated the Bucks 126-123 to knot up their best-of-three National Basketball Association qualifying round at one game each.

"...Now the pressure is on both of us," Brown said after Thursday night's victory.

In the other NBA qualifying game, Buffalo defeated Philadelphia 95-89 to take a 1-0 lead in their best-of-three series. In the best-of-seven quarter-finals, Cleveland downed Washington 80-79 to even their series at 1-1 and Phoenix stopped Seattle 116-111.

Bob Lanier's 35 points, including 17 in the third period, and George Trapp's hot final quarter paced the Pistons to victory. Trapp scored 11 of his 13 points in the last 12 minutes while Milwaukee got 33 points from Brian Winters and 29 from Bob Dandridge.

But it was the Bucks' team shooting that dazzled the victorious Pistons.

"They were uncanny shooting the ball," said Lanier. "I hope they don't shoot that well again."

Free throws by Detroit, particularly in the closing minutes, killed the Bucks' chances of pulling it out. There were 63 fouls called in the game—25 in the final quarter.

"This was a strange game," said Bucks' Coach Larry Costello. "The fouls determined the game. There were some fouls in key situations...It's tough to lose on free throws. I'd rather they didn't call anything."

Braves 95, 76ers 89

Buffalo's Bob McAdoo scored 36 points and grabbed 21 rebounds to lead the Braves over Philadelphia. Not noted for their defense, the Braves, one of the NBA's highest scoring teams, blanked Philadelphia's hot-shooting Fred Carter from the field and held George McGinnis to only one field goal in the final quarter. Carter wound up with 28 points and McGinnis 20.

A 7-0 Braves spurt in the final 4:19 broke open the tight game. McAdoo scored three and Jim McMillian, who had 22 points, collected four in the winning rally.

The Braves, who lost the regular season series to Philadelphia 4-3, return to Buffalo with a chance to win the series tonight.

Cavaliers 80, Bullets 79

Cleveland edged Washington on Bobby Smith's 22-foot jumper with two seconds left. The victory evened the best-of-seven quarter-finals at 1-1 with the series resuming Saturday in Cleveland.

Smith paced the Cavs with 17 points, while Dick Snyder added 16, including 10 in the third period when Cleveland came from a 45-32 deficit late in the second period to tie the score at 57-57 with 3:52 left in the third quarter. Washington was paced by Phil Chenier's 19 points, 16 by Dave Bing and 15 by Len Robinson.

Pincay out for 10 days

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — The stewards at Hollywood Park have suspended jockey Laffit Pincay for causing interference in the third race Wednesday.

The stewards acted Thursday to suspend for ten racing days the rider who had won four straight Santa Anita riding titles before losing to Sandy Hawley this season. The suspension will last from April 18 through April 29.

Pincay will miss the $100,000 Century Handicap on April 25.

In the claiming race Wednesday, Pincay finished third aboard Great Age.

A five-day suspension was meted out to apprentice jockey Benny Dinicola, who finished fourth with Mardyke Parade in the same race in which Pincay was cited.

Hubie Green hot again

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — The "Green Machine" is on the move again.

The wheels came off last week in the Masters but Hubert Green—dubbed "the Green Machine" by his fellow pros when he reeled off an unlikely string of three consecutive victories— had it back in gear again Thursday in the first round of the $225,000 Tournament of Champions.

But it wasn't easy. And it wasn't pleasant. The skinny guy, easily the outstanding player in the game this year, was almost knocked off his feet by the blustery winds, was drenched and dripping from the fine, driving rain and finished with hands so cold he'd lost his putting touch on the final hole.

"That was work," Hubert said after his three-under-par 69 had lifted him two strokes clear in the elite, winners-only field. "Playing out there today was not enjoyable.

"I'd been trying to hit the ball higher, going into the Masters. You have to hit the ball high there. I went back to hitting it low here. With the wind, I think that helped me quite a bit."

It was a particular help over the last three holes on the 6,855-yard La Costa Country Club course. They're always among the toughest on the tour and, with the weather the worst the touring golf pros have seen all season, turned into mortal terrors.

Green played them one over par and was delighted with the performance. So would most of the others in the elite field of 22 men who have won regular tour titles over the last 12 months.

Johnny Miller, for example, played those holes with scores of five-seven-five, four over par. Veteran Don January had a share of the lead until he played them bogey-bogey-bogey. Ben Crenshaw, the youthful runner-up in the Masters last week, was one shot out of the lead before playing the last three two over par. Big J.C. Snead had to use a wood club for his third shot on the 560-yard 17th.

In addition to Green, only the 46-year-old January, defending champion Al Geiberger and Australian Bruce Crampton could break par. Those three were at 71, two shots back of Hubert.

The group at par 72 was made up of Crenshaw, Snead, British Open champ Tom Watson, Billy Casper and Hale Irwin.

Ray Floyd, the run-away winner of the Masters, had a letdown and was dead last in the field at 78.

Jack Nicklaus declined to compete. Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player didn't win in the United States in the last year and so were not eligible.

Green chipped in for one birdie, missed an eagle three by two inches on another chip, birdied a par five from three feet and holed two long birdie putts of about 20 and 30 feet.

He bogeyed the 11th from a bunker, didn't miss a fairway and had it four under par for the day when he started that long, tough journey home over the last three holes.

On the 16th, listed at 409 yards, he hit a driver from the fairway and was short, but saved par. On the 17th he hit driver, driver, one iron, the last shot getting in the water. He dropped out, pitched on and one-putted for bogey.

On the 18th, he hit driver, three wood and had a 15-18 foot birdie putt "but my hands were so cold I had no chance of making it," he said.

"On those last three holes I hit every shot dead solid, as good as I can hit 'em. I hit one iron for my third shot on 17 and it wasn't enough club.

"Those holes aren't the easiest in the world at any time, never mind when you've got a light hurricane blowing in your face," Hubert said.

Hornets, Griffins top relays

By PAUL CLICK
PB Correspondent

Fullerton and Grossmont dominated the wind-blown, rainy Southern California Relays Thursday afternoon at El Camino and Cerritos Community Colleges.

MSAC, despite having a difficult afternoon in the running events, took first place finishes in the high jump and long jump.

Fullerton, running in Division 1, cracked its own meet record of 17:24.2. Fullerton's winning time was 17:15.4.

The Hornets won the division with 97 points as they took the shuttle hurdles, four mile, shot put and discs and placed second in the 440 relay.

Grossmont, Division 2, captured two field events and five running events to out-distance runnerups Cerritos and San Diego Mesa by 44 points. The Griffins nabbed firsts in shot put and high jump.

Bob Burrows paced Grossmont to a victory in the shot put with a toss of 53-9½. Teammate Curt Hampton placed second with a 53-1¼ toss. Bill Bunting captured the high jump with a jump of 6-6. Dale Patterson finished second for Grossmont at 6-5.

Bill Tolbert finished third in the long jump for Grossmont as it completed their domination of the field events. Tolbert turned in a jump of 24-7.

"We did pretty well in the field events today," said Grossmont's Bob Larsen. "Tolbert turned in his best jump ever in the long jump and we finished one-two in the shot-put.

"We did very well in the second division as we outdistanced the field in total points."

The Mounties weren't impressive in the running events as they finished low in the standings in the only four races they were involved in. Rain began falling during the running of the sprint medley relay and the MSAC trackmen decided to pack their bags and head on home. Apparently MSAC didn't want to risk any serious injuries on the rain-soaked and slippery track.

However, the Mounties did turn in some fine performances in the morning field events at Camino.

Mark Booth placed second in the javelin and Chris Johnson was third with a heave of 182 feet. Booth's second place throw was 192 feet. Steve Miller cleared 6-10 in the high jump to claim the event. And Raymond Reeb captured first place in the long jump with a mark of 22-11.

Coach John Norton said of the Mountie performance, "It was just the cold weather that hurt us. I thought we did very well in the field events. Raymond Reeb did an excellent job in the long jump.

"We got second and third in the javelin. It just got cold and rainy at the end and we just didn't want to perform in these condition.

MSAC travels to San Jose Saturday to participate in the all-day San Jose Relays.

Claremont will return to San Antonio League play Wednesday by meeting Upland at Diamond Bar Country Club.

Quotes

"Once, years ago, my cap flew off when I chased a fly ball. The fans loved it, so I developed it. I started buying a cap that was about a fourth of a size smaller than I needed. It sat on top of my head and when the wind caught it right, off it came." — Former baseball star Willie Mays, on how one of his trademarks came about.

Stags triumph, Broncos lose

The Broncos traveled to Northridge but dropped a 5-3 California Collegiate Athletic Association contest to the CSUN Matadors. Claremont-Mudd had better luck in Arizona, as the Stags surprised host Grand Canyon College 4-2.

Northrdige's Jeff Gilbert slugged a two-run homer with two outs in the last of the eighth to down Cal Poly. Gilbert's blast broke up a 3-3 deadlock between the two teams.

The win gives CSUN a 5-2 record in the CCAA and a 22-16-1 overall ledger. Cal Poly is now 3-4 in the CCAA and 20-21-1 overall.

CSUN took a 2-0 lead in the game on two unearned runs in the first. Poly's John Turriff singled in Ken Hellyer in the fifth to make it 2-1, but Mark Bumstead's triple made it 3-1 in the last of that frame.

CPP got within one again in the sixth on a single by Dennis Sherow, his steal of second, and Hellyer's RBI one-bagger, and tied it in the seventh as Kevin McLean singled home Turriff.

Bumstead, a Bonita High and MSAC product, led the Matador attack with three hits and a walk. The two teams are idle today, but will meet Saturday at noon at Poly for a twinbill.

C-M used the pitching of Norm Richards and Mitch Katlin and some clutch hitting to down host Grand Canyon in Phoenix, Ariz.

The Stags put together a three-run rally in the sixth to erase a 2-1 Grand Canyon lead. In that frame, Jamie Opatrny stroked a two-out single to get the rally going. Mark Stott followed by drawing a free pass, and Mark Roque was hit by a pitch to load the sacks.

The first C-M run came in the fifth as Andy Roundtree tripled in Roque, who had singled.

The two teams were to meet again today at 11 a.m. in Phoenix.

Gems sign Rosie Black

SAN BERNARDINO — Righthander Rosie Black, rated by many as the world's top woman softball pitcher, has signed her 1976 contract with the Southern California Gems of the International Women's Professional Softball Association.

Following the signing, Black and the 22 other Gem players began spring training workouts at the Little League Western Regional Headquarters in San Bernardino. An intra-squad game is planned on Saturday.

The Gems' opener is May 28 against the San Diego Sandpipers. Season tickets are currently on sale at the Gems' office.

Rain stops Mounties

Mt. San Antonio College's home baseball game against East Los Angeles in the MSAC Easter Tournament was rained out Thursday and will not be replayed.

MERCURY MONARCH
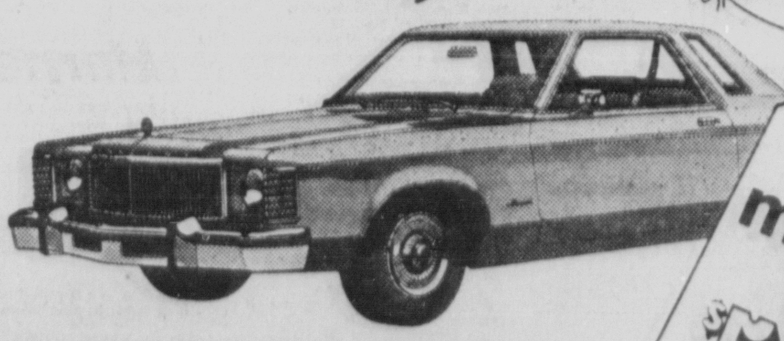
for much less than $5000



A Mercury Monarch may look like a $12,000 car, but it doesn't cost like a $12,000 car. In fact you can buy a Monarch for less than $5000.

After you drive a Monarch. Feel the way it responds. The way people respond to you driving it, you'll appreciate the moderate price tag even more.

Mercury Monarch is designed the way a lot of cars may be designed tomorrow. Precision-size. Over a foot shorter than most mid-size cars, yet it has just about as much head room and leg room. Fully independent front suspension. Hotchkiss rear suspension. Over 100 pounds of body insulation to control noise. And this year tests show Monarch's ride is smoother and quieter than last year.

Cruz, Barr top rookies?

By Associated Press

In the first week of the major league baseball season, the best reports on the 1976 rookie class belong to third baseman Hector Cruz of the St. Louis Cardinals and pitcher Steve Barr of the Texas Rangers.

The Cardinals were so convinced that Cruz could make the jump to the majors that they swapped Ken Reitz to San Francisco over the winter, opening up third base for the 23-year-old infielder who was the American Association's Player of the Year in 1975.

So far, the gamble has paid off. In his first four games, Cruz is batting .333 on five hits in his first 15 at bats including a double and a homer. He has driven in five runs and scored two.

Barr was another gamble, coming to the Rangers in the controversial trade that sent Ferguson Jenkins to Boston. But the curveballing left-hander made an impressive Texas debut, limiting Oakland to four hits in his first start and beating the A's 3-1.

"He has a good arm and good control," said Texas Scout Dick Gernert, who recommended that the Rangers insist on getting Barr in the Jenkins swap. "I thought he was a fine prospect."

Cruz is a converted outfielder who is still learning the ropes at third base. But the Cardinals are willing to live with an occasional fielding adventure in order to keep his bat in the lineup.

Cruz, whose brother, Jose, plays the outfield for Houston, brought formidable credentials with him to the Cardinals. He batted .306 in 1975 with 29 home runs and 116 runs batted in at Tulsa. He took third base lessons there under Manager Ken Boyer, who held down the job with St. Louis for 10 seasons.

New York Yankee second baseman Willie Randolph snapped an 0-for-8 start Tuesday night with his first major league home run. It came against Baltimore ace Jim Palmer. Randolph, who carried a can't-miss tag after batting .339 at Charleston last year, later added a single. Those hits boosted his average to .182, not outstanding but a lot better than the .000 he had been carrying round. He also stole his first base of the season.

Randolph also has given the Yankees airtight defense at second base, something the team has been lacking for many years. He also is the first rookie in the seven-year history of fan voting to be listed on the All Star ballot.

Jerry Royster came to Atlanta as one of the most highly-touted rookies in baseball after batting .333 to lead the Pacific Coast League last year. Acquired in the Jim Wynn-Dusty Baker trade, Royster was installed at third base but has no hits so far. He carried an 0-for-14 horse collar through the Braves' first four games.

Two other rookies have moved into regular jobs. Chet Lemon is playing center field for the Chicago White Sox and batting .200 on 2-for-10 and Butch Wynegar has been handling Minnesota's catching and batting .231 on 3-for-13.

Lemon, a converted infielder, is coming off a .307 season at Denver after being acquired by the White Sox in the deal that sent pitcher Stan Bahnsen to Oakland last summer. Wynegar, a 20-year-old switch hitter, is attempting the difficult jump from Class A to the majors after driving in 112 runs at Reno last year.

DERBY DARKHORSE — Most backstretchers at Hollywood Park feel Crystal Water, shown here working with jockey Bill Shoemaker, has the best chance of scoring an upset Saturday when the $200,000 Hollywood Derby is run at Hollywood Park.

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Eleven of the West's best 3-year-olds were entered Thursday for Saturday's $240,250 Hollywood Derby, the final sophomore test on the Pacific Coast.

An Act, winner of the Santa Anita Derby, and Telly's Pop, winner of the California Derby at Golden Gate Fields, head the list with the outcome to decide which go to the Triple Crown events starting with the Kentucky Derby.

The 3-year-olds will race 1⅛ miles with the winner to collect $152,750 if all 11 start. Each will carry 122 pounds.

In post position order, the field has June's Blazer, Classy Surgeon, Telly's Pop, Crystal Water, Dr. Krohn, Life's Hope, Double Discount, Caelic Christian, MacKenzie Bridge, Samburu and An Act.

An Act will have Laffit Pincay riding with Francisco Mena on Telly's Pop and Donald Pierce on June's Blazer. Double Discount, the surprising runnerup in the Santa Anita Derby will again be ridden by Fernando Toro.

Bill Shoemaker, who didn't have a mount in the Santa Anita Derby, will be aboard the longshot Crystal Water this time.

Hollywood Park moved its derby ahead for 1976 to race before the Kentucky Derby where in past years it has followed the Triple Crown events of the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont Stakes.

The event will return $40,000 for second place, $25,000 for third, $15,000 for fourth and $7,500 for fifth.

Prep star picks Trojans

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Willie Brigham, the top-rated prep basketball player in San Diego County, says he will attend the University of Southern California next fall.

"I think I'll get more exposure there," said the 6-foot-3 guard from San Diego High. He averaged 15.6 ponts as a junior and 17.3 as a senior while being named player of the year in the county both seasons.

Hafey beats David Sotelo

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Art Hafey, the No. 1 contender for the world featherweight crown, scored a unanimous decision over Mexico's David Sotelo Thursday night in a 10-round fight that was a wide open brawl from the start.

Yank fans are thrilled

NEW YORK (AP) — The telescreen part of the celebrated $3 million scoreboard wasn't working. Another section informed the crowd that Oscar Gamble was hitting .999. Minnesota's Butch Wynegar popped out on what was flashed as a 4-1 count.

The elevators weren't programmed to stop at all levels. Parts of the ballpark weren't completed and were filled with construction equipment. The slopes in the outfield would do justice to the Boston Marathon.

But it was beautiful. It was Yankee Stadium on the first day of the rest of its life Thursday.

Like other New York City tenants, the New York Yankees had to wait a long time—50 years—to get their home painted and refurbished. And they moved back into "The House That Ruth Built" and the city rebuilt at a whopping cost of around $75 million with a smashing 11-4 victory over the Minnesota Twins before a roaring packed house of 54,010.

"Yankee Stadium is beautiful," said Manager Billy Martin. "It's great to be back. We had to break the stadium in right."

While the renovation was under way, the Yankees shared Shea Stadium with the New York Mets for two years, but they were second-class citizens there—relegated to a dirty football dressing room—and they knew it.

"The fans at Shea weren't really our fans," said shortstop Fred Stanley. "It seemed like they were waiting for us to screw up. The clubhouse was cramped and you couldn't put things where you wanted. And the Mets would never let our ground crew tailor the infield like we wanted it."

"A National League atmosphere," Thurman Munson called it.

Thursday's throng was all pro-Yankee, except for those folks wearing powder blue visiting uniforms and living in the Minnesota dugout. The paid crowd of 52,613 was the largest for the proud old ballpark on opening day in 30 years.

While the Yanks were unveiling their redone park, two other American League games were played. The California Angels downed the Kansas City Royals 5-1 and the Chicago White Sox beat the Boston Red Sox 8-4.

The Yankees trotted out some of the stadium's tradition-steeped past. The widows of Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig were there and so were Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle and Don Larsen, and football's Frank Gifford and Kyle Rote and Johnny Lujack and Weeb Ewbank and Jim Parker and Arnold Tucker, and former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Louis.

"Many years ago, you were most impressed with Yankee Stadium's tradition and the immensity of the place," said Minnesota Manager Gene Mauch. "Now it's just a beautiful place."

For 2½ innings the Yankees appeared in awe of their new surroundings. Rudy May's first four pitches were balls, Dan Ford hit the next one well over 400 feet for a two-run homer and then a pig wandered onto the field.

May hit a batter and walked three, the Yankees committed two errors, the Twins stole a base in each of the first three innings and suddenly it was 4-0 and the Yanks were probably thinking of signing 85-year-old Bob Shawkey, winner of the first game ever played in the stadium.

But at 3:44 p.m. there was an explosion, something akin to the old 5 o'clock lightning. A walk, Gamble's triple and singles by Willie Randolph and pinch hitters Lou Piniella and Otto Velez, along with a stolen base and a wild pitch, and the Yankees led 5-4.

Relievers Dick Tidrow and Sparky Lyle protected the slender edge until the bottom of the eighth—just a little after 5 o'clock—when six more runs poured across. Gamble contributed a run-scoring double and Mickey Rivers and Chris Chambliss added two-run singles.

"It was a once-in-a-lifetime thing to see all those people," said Tidrow, who worked five scoreless innings. "It will be nice some day to look back and know I was the winning pitcher in the first game back in the stadium."

Others weren't impressed.

"It was just another game," said Rivers, who collected three hits and touched off a chant of "Go! Go! Go!" when he singled as the Yankees' first batter. "The outfield is terrible. There are a lot of holes and someone's gonna hurt himself."

But Rivers was in the minority. The majority included some of the Twins.

"I like to come here where so many great players played," said player-coach Tony Oliva. "But to me, it's not the new Yankee Stadium or the old Yankee Stadium . . . it's a place where so many great players played."

White Sox 8, Red Sox 4

Buddy Bradford keyed Chicago's 13-hit attack with four hits, including a homer and two doubles. He also drove in three runs and scored three. Brian Downing also homered for the White Sox, while reliever Clay Carroll, the winning pitcher for Cincinnati in last year's seventh World Series game, blanked the Red Sox on three hits over the last four innings.

DFG asks favor of anglers

Fishermen at Lake Perris in Riverside County are being asked to invest in their angling future by voluntarily throwing back all the large spotted bass they catch from now to the first of June.

Ken Aasen, Department of Fish and Game biologist in charge of the fishery at Lake Perris, says enough large bass are being taken by a comparatively few skilled anglers to jeopardize the DFG's hope of establishing a permanent, outstanding spotted bass fishery there.

"When we made an electroshocking survey a month ago we collected 120 spotted bass of which 100 were more than 14 inches. Last week when we made the same survey we collected only 65 bass and just 30 were in the 14-inch classes," Aasen reports.

"Our best estimate is that from 200 to 250 adult spotted bass are being caught each week at the lake. To get this bass fishery established at Lake Perris, we'd like to see that figure reduced as much as possible during the next month and a half," the DFG biologist says.

"First, the adult bass must have an opportunity to spawn successfully, and second they must be able to protect their eggs and newly hatched fish from the vast number of green sunfish which now inhabit the lake," Aasen explains.

"After the eggs are laid, the male bass takes up a guard position over the nest and drives off other fish that try to eat the eggs or newly hatched bass.

Glider pilot sets record

The Wind Drifters Balloon Club of Burbank cooperated with Steve Hodgson as he challenged the world altitude record for free descent in a hang glider recently. Gary Cerveny, the balloon pilot, lifted the "Free Flight" hang glider to 24,600 feet.

The previous altitude record was 22,500 feet by Dennis Burton on June 7, 1975.

Balloonists and glider enthusiasts met in the Mojave Desert near Lancaster. At dawn, the balloon crew unfolded the envelope while the glider crew readied the frame and its fabric.

Everyone helped lay out the yards of nylon balloon fabric. The envelope stretched out over 100 feet over the ground. No wind made it easy. Four support tapes were carefully extended from one side of the gondola to the top of the envelope. These tapes would hold the initial air bubble.

A fan began blowing in volumes of cool air. The two strongest balloonists got the job of holding the mouth of the balloon open. A third man, Dr. Bob Kendall of Upland, kept re-positioning the fan to insure the best air flow.

The crew let the envelope slowly grow bigger. Gripping the load tapes, hands slid along as the fabric inched its way up.

The challenge was to hold the fabric down as long as possible. Two crew members, holding the fabric closest to the mouth, had to hold both the bottom and top taut. Otherwise the fabric below the air bubble would rise and block the incoming air.

Cerveny, the pilot, walked inside the balloon. The rip cord line had to be checked for tangles. He closed the window-like control vents on the fabric envelope. Cerveny securely fastened the temperature gauge to the top. The gauge had to be constantly monitored in flight to insure the temperature never exceeded 250 degrees C.

The hot-air balloon was ready for the record-challenging flight. Drag lines were extended and human chains kept the balloon from take-off. The extra crew got off the gondola. Cerveny instructed the ground crew to let the balloon rise.

Steve Hodgson, the glider pilot, walked over and crouched underneath the balloon. As a safety precaution, he carried an emergency parachute for use should the glider become inoperative. Cerveny fastened a detachable/quick release rope from the glider to the gondola.

The two graceful crafts ascended quickly. Cerveny maintained radio contact with Hodgson and the ground crew, informing them of altitude and wind direction. He kept a watchful eye on the balloon temperature, as the flames burned continuously for the 1½ hour ascent.

Cerveny broadcasted 24,600' altitude and asked if Hodgson was ready. Hodgson replied by swinging his bar back and forth. Quickly Cerveny pulled the release.

Hodgson felt the bottom drop out. In the thin atmosphere the kite went into a dive immediately. Recovering from his initial surprise, Hodgson pulled forward on the bar. The glider immediately pulled out of the dive. Hodgson executed a wide 360 degree turn to check the location of the balloon. The balloon continued to rise, providing no obstacle. Hodgson flew for approx. 35 minutes, taking advantage of the winds at various altitudes.

The ground crews were tracking the vehicles. The chase took them over all varieties of roads and dirt trails. The crews divided as the balloon and glider headed in different directions. To get to the landing site, the glider crew had to go cross-country. Hodgson was waiting for them. Onlookers on cycles and dirt vehicles arrived at the desolate desert spot from all directions to congratulate him.

ROLLING STONE

By ABE PECK

The OVATION was into its seventh roaring minute at Winterland Auditorium in San Francisco when it became obvious that the Who would not be going back onstage. They had done two blazing hours of unrelenting rock and roll and now they were sitting around in a dumpty, narrow dressing room, unpopping cans of beer and visiting with friends.

The roar finally subsided at the 12-minute mark, ending, as usual, with some ironic booing. Standing in the wings, producer Bill Graham said that lead singer Roger Daltrey was down with the flu and that the Who "just aren't into encores." Daltrey also wasn't into the Who's sound system, heaving microphones at stagehands when they gave out. He personally disabled the mikes by repeatedly throwing them into the air, and then jerking them, yo-yo style, back into his hands.

Drummer Keith Moon, whose own case of flu had caused the cancellation of a show in Boston weeks before, was in obvious good health onstage. Offstage he was back in life-of-the-party form. When our reporter stepped into the dressing room, tour manager Peter Rudge (who also manages Lynyrd Skynyrd) grabbed his notebook and pretended to read: "Keith Moon plays the drums as he wasn't there."

Moon then grabbed our guy and herded him towards the shower room. They both stayed dry, but Moon then went into the room next door and created enough crashing noises to stop all dressingroom conversation. Band aides dashed toward the commotion, worrying aloud, "Are the guitars all right?" Moon stepped out of the room with a calm smile, and the roadies rushed in — to find only a pair of tall western boots perched on top of a couch.

With the tour over except for makeup dates in Boston and Denver, the Who are off to the studios in London for an album; Peter Townshend already has several songs under way. Then, in late summer, they may return to the U.S. for a large-stadium tour.

* * *

STARSHIP'S NEXT STOP: Two million copies later, Jefferson Starship lead singer and 'Miracles' writer Marty Balin says, " 'Red Octopus' wasn't THAT good, was it? Well, wait 'till you hear THIS one!"

Currently recording their still-untitled album at Wally Heider's in San Francisco, the Starship has already laid down 12 tracks, and is now doing vocals and planning overdubs. "We only had time to do string arrangements for three songs last time," Balin noted. "This time we'll do 'em for them all and then see what we want."

Each Starshipper is actively involved with the new effort. Balin's written two love songs ("Love Lovely Love" and "With Your Love") and sings lead on "Cruisin'," which may be the Bay Area's answer to 10 years of Southern California car songs. Grace Slick and bassist Peter Sears came up with "Hot Water." Rhythm guitarist Paul Kantner had a hand in "St. Charles," a "Caroline"-like opus. And keyboard player David Freiberg, aided by Grateful Dead lyricist Robert Hunter, is responsible for "Nighthawk," a tune that drummer John Barbata calls "Frisco disco" — much to Freiberg's dismay.

"The only problem we have," Kantner said, "is what to do with 55 minutes of material. You can't put much more than 20 minutes on a side without losing sound quality."

The album is expected out in late June or early July, and will be accompanied by a long summer tour.

* * *

FLIGHT PLANS: The Wings tour, nearly grounded by guitarist Jimmy McCulloch's broken finger, will be rescheduled. The only problem is that the delay will probably require massive reshuffling of the 31-date tour . . . "Open Your Eyes You Can Fly" is a big album for Flora Purim, but the Brazilian singer is getting flak from U.S. immigration authorities in her effort to stay in the States. Seems the government may try to revoke her visa because of a cocaine conviction that cost her 16 months in jail.

Purim has retained attorney Leon Wildes, who won John Lennon's deportation case . . . David Bowie pleaded not guilty in Rochester, N.Y., where he and three tour associates were busted during Bowie's recent tour for alleged possession of six ounces of marijuana. A hearing is scheduled for Tuesday. Bowie, who does not fly, and who is not having visa problems, was last seen on a boat headed for England.

* * *

BICENTENNIAL MUSIC: Tentative July 4th bookings included John Denver at RFK Stadium in Washington, D.C., the Newport Jazz Festival in the streets of New York, Lynyrd Skynyrd and Marshall Tucker in Memphis, Neil Young in Norfolk — and rumors of the Stones at the Los Angeles Coliseum.

Magoo celebrates 25th anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — It's hard to realize that Mr. Magoo, the near-sighted, crochety old man of films and TV fame, turned 25 this year. But, by George, Waldo, that's how old the voice of Magoo says the man is.

The voice, now 63, belongs to actor Jim Backus. He was on the East Coast this week with his wife to see a Broadway play and partake of the waters with an actor friend, a guy by the name of Richard Burton.

Resplendent in a blue blazer, Backus sat down for an interview in his hotel's dining room after cheerfully grumbling he'd misplaced his glasses and was making do with an old spare set.

"That's the last time I make jokes about Magoo," he said, squinting about in a manner not unlike the cartoon character he made famous. He was asked how said character came about.

"Magoo came out of a yearning to eat," he said. He said the Magoo voice stemmed from when he was a radio actor and the performers' union decided to let actors to play more than one role in the same radio show.

Although he started as one of the wild characters on the late Fred Allen's radio show, Backus, a graduate of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, was doing serious roles at the time.

To improve his chances on the actors' market, he developed a funny voice for comedy parts. It began as the sort of hearty harrumphing one hears among businessmen who commute here each day by train from Upper Suburbia.

"Then I started doing it as a routine at parties," he said. "I called it 'The Man in the Club Car.' As my wife says, it was a character I did just before I put on the lampshade and she called the cab."

He said he first tried the new voice on the air during Edgar Bergen's radio show in the late 1940s. But he said the character wasn't called Magoo then, nor did it bear that name in the first Magoo film short.

Backus, who'd been doing well in serious and comic roles in movies at the time, said Jerry Hausner, a fellow actor, suggested he use the weird voice in a new cartoon being planned.

The cartoon was "The Musical Bear," he said. It concerned a college kid named Waldo (Hausner was Waldo's voice) who was taking his rich, crochety, near-sighted old uncle on a skiing trip.

Waldo, not the then-unnamed-uncle, was the star, Backus recalled.

"It was an overnight sensation in the theaters," he added. "I don't know with who, the usher or somebody. I never heard anyone running out of the theater" — he emitted a Magoo-like chuckle — "shouting, 'Bravo!'"

But a hit it was. The old myopic (Backus can't recall who gave the character his name) became the star and Waldo the supporting player. More cartoons were ordered, and Magoo's place in history was assured.

Backus, who continued on-camera work in films and TV, including lead roles in "I Married Joan" and "Gilligan's Island," will be back on TV next fall as a semiregular in ABC's new "Feather and Father."

He wishes he'd had such foresight when he first agreed to do Magoo.

"It was truly a labor of love," he mused. "I had no idea it'd become that popular. Had I known, I would now own everything between here and St. Louis."

Baroque violinist Daniel Stepner and harpsichordist Preethi de Silva will present a concert in Balch Auditorium, Scripps College, at 3 p.m. April 24. This is one of the admission-free Frankel Festival of Chamber Music series.

Stepner, solo violinist with the Boston Musica Viva, the contemporary ensemble, and with the Banchetto Musicale, Boston's baroque orchestra, was concertmaster of the New Haven Symphony for five years. He studied at Northwestern and Yale Universities.

Miss de Silva, assistant music professor at Scripps, studied at the Royal Academy of Music, London, England, at the Hochschule fuer Musik in West Berlin, Germany and at Yale. Her principal harpsichord teachers were Silvia Kind, Ralph Kirkpatrick and Gerhard Kastner. She has performed widely on both radio and TV and given concerts in Europe and the U.S.

Mime group slated

The Richmond Sheppard Mime Theater will perform "Movies, Movies" in the Dailey Theater, La Verne College, at 8:30 p.m. Monday. Admission is free.

The group is one of the leading mime ensembles in the United States. It usually receives standing ovations for its performances at the Los Angeles Music Center.

Trinity calls tryouts

The Trinity Players of Trinity Methodist Church, Pomona, will hold auditions for the rock musical, "Godspell," at the church from 2 to 4 p.m. April 24 and from 1 to 4 p.m. April 25.

The musical by Stephen Schartz is based on the gospel according to St. Matthew. It has been a successful Broadway show and a popular movie.

The show will be directed by Robert Wussler, who has directed and performed with the San Bernardino Civic Light Opera, Redlands Civic Theater, Valley Community Theater and other groups.

"Godspell" has parts for five men and five women between 18 and 30. The show will be staged at the church June 3-5 and 10-12.

'I am my own woman'

Ballet star enjoys freedom

By Murray Olderman

SAN FRANCISCO — (NEA) — "Is crazy house," said Mikhail Baryshnikov, who opened the garage door instead of the front door, with an apologetic smile.

He yelled up the stairs, "Natasha!" A string of Russian followed, then he darted off in his jeans and scuffed ballet slippers.

A minor crisis had enveloped the house at 232 Marina, which overlooks the Bay and Alcatraz, Angel Island and the Golden Gate Bridge. Baryshnikov's standard bred poodle, Gulu, had vanished.

"Madame Makarova is much sorry she wait you," said Eugen Schneider, who was barefoot and also wore blue jeans. "You want drink?"

Suzie, a white-haired middle-aged woman in a black-and-white maid's costume, brought out cups of tea and announced she was going to jump in the Bay. She was born in China; her parents were Ukrainian.

"Young people," she clucked. "Much energy."

After about half an hour, Natasha — who is Natalia Makarova, also Mrs. Edward Karker — swept into the ornate living room, padded with Persian rugs and hung with tapestries. "Where," she asked, "we go?"

We went to a restaurant on Union Street. "Make sure she eat," said Schneider, who teaches the ballet classes that Natasha attends between performances. Outside, on the Marina Green, Baryshnikov was telling a TV reporter all about Gulu.

Another day had started in the lives of the world's most prominent dancers.

Makarova is perhaps the primest of all prima ballerinas. Baryshnikov rates with Rudolf Nureyev as the most spectacular male star. All three are defectors from the Soviet Union. Nureyev was the first, but Makarova (accent on the second syllable) points out, "I first woman."

She is a thin slip of a woman who weighs between 90 and 95 pounds, and on this day she was wearing a brown spun wool outfit that clung tightly to her hips and swirled below her knees. Her hat was cocked to one side and her hair was pulled back in a severe bun.

She is striking, and there is no mistaking the Slavic origins in her small features.

Half a dozen years ago, while dining with friends in London where she was appearing with the Kirov Ballet troup from Leningrad, Makarova had decided she no longer wanted to live in Russia.

"It was spontaneous," she insists in English that is quite lucid. "We called the police. Two policemen drove up to the house. We went to the police station and I spent the night there. I smoked five packs of cigarettes."

The next day she was taken to Scotland Yard, which spirited her away to another family, who hid her for two weeks while the Kirov Ballet officials searched the city for her.

Now Makarova is virtually a citizen of the world. She has a London apartment and a San Francisco husband (with house) and she travels and dances 12 months of the year. Her lifestyle has changed.

She has discovered lobster — "is none in Soviet" — and green salads, which aren't available during the long winters in her native Leningrad. She has a silver Mercedes sports car and credit cards (also unknown in the USSR). She smokes low-tar cigarettes machine-gun fashion. Most of all, she has a free spirit.

"I am now convinced more than ever that what I did was right," she says. "Spiritually."

There was a price. Her mother is still in Leningrad. So is her stepfather, a musician, her stepbrother and her grandmother. They have tried to get out to visit her but have been denied permission. She telephones them twice a month. She has no idea what it costs.

NATALIA MAKAROVA

"I send the bills," she says, "to my agent."

Her life is literally absorbed by ballet. Seldom does she escape the routine. Even on vacations she practices; to abandon it for even a few days would affect her muscle tone.

Makarova, now 35, is at her peak as a performer and is aware of her position as one of the world's great dancers, a superstar. She has been called temperamental. "The word temperamental means different here than in Russia," she says. "In Russia is good to be temperamental.

"There is challenge and excitement for me every time I dance. You make little changes, you always improve. There is pressure to do your best."

Dancing in the Western world, there is also freedom.

"I can try things," she says. "In Russia, I could not. I am also my own woman. I have to take care of everything myself. There they took care of you like you were a doll. Here I am responsible.

"After appearing in London recently, I went to Italy, to Rome, for four days, just to visit museums and art galleries. That, too, is freedom. I could not do that in Russia."

Her training reflects the elegant, classical Leningrad school of ballet as opposed to the vigorous, physical Moscow style of the Bolshoi troupe. Her repertoire emphasizes the more classical roles.

In that respect she has been frustrated because she initially felt dancing in the West would give her a chance to experiment more. But now new vistas are opening up. Jerome Robbins has created a dance specifically for her which she will perform for the first time at a New York gala in June. Kenneth MacMillan has created a ballet specifically for her — the ego fulfillment of every ballerina — which will debut in November. And MacMillan is putting together another Makarova ballet for next year.

Since she defected, she has also staged a ballet, La Bayadere. But she is loathe to get too involved in that career tangent because, she points out, it means three months of planning and another month of working with the company. She can't afford that much time away from her own dancing.

The life can be grueling. She broke both her wrists acting out the mad scene in a rehearsal for Giselle. She has thrown her shoulder out in a fall. Her knee is sometimes gimpy. She has pulled muscles in her legs. Her toes sometimes ache. In fact, on this day she is getting a toe treatment in the afternoon after dancing nights in a row.

"But dance," she says coquettishly, "is not all. I still have husband to please." She was married recently to Edward Karkar, an electronics tycoon, in a big, orthodox wedding and laments that she has had no time yet for a honeymoon.

She is still thwarted in one area of dance. "I can not rock-and-roll," she admits. "I try but I am not very good."

ROYAL GUITARS — The Romeros, known as "the royal family of the guitar," will perform at Garrison Theater of the Claremont Colleges at 8:15 p.m. next Friday and Saturday. They are, from left, Celedonio Romero and his three sons, Celin, Pepe and Angel. The quartet will perform at the Hollywood Bowl this summer. At Garrison they will play works of Bach, Albeniz, Sor, Telemann and others. Tickets are on sale at the box office and Mutual and Liberty agencies.

Castings

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Movie castings — Cristina Raines, who appeared in the short-lived television series "Sunshine," assumes the role of the victim of a battle between good and evil in Universal's "The Sentinel."

Maud Adams, fashion model turned actress, joins Peter Sellers in United Artists' "The Pink Panther Strikes Again."

Swoosie Kurtaz, Broadway actress, makes her film debut in Paul Newman's "Slap Shot." Her name? It derives from the Swoose half swan, half goose, a B17 flown by her father, Frank Kurtz, in World War II.

Everyone uses dictionaries to check spellings, pronounciations, and meanings of words. The most common type of dictionary is a collection of everyday words as they are written and spoken.

People who write the dictionary find many of the new words that come into our ever-growing and changing language in such sources as science, politics and our many professions.

The space age, and even war, has added its quota of new words. So have folksy colloquialisms and popular slang words.

Some new words come from other languages as we visit and trade with other nations.

The dictionary-makers study thousands of new words. If they are important enough, the words are added to the dictionary. Old words are dropped if people stop using them. The largest dictionaries may contain over 400,000 words. But no dictionary lists all the words.

A World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first youngster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, Box 1335 (DA), Santa Cruz, Ca 95061.

Steve McGarrett

Makes Hawaii Five-O go

JACK LORD

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Lord, Hawaii's most famous cop, flew to his onetime home town for a brief visit and he was angry.

"We've been kicked out of our studio," said Lord, whose own nature doesn't stray far from the tight-lipped Steve McGarrett of "Hawaii Five-O." He referred to the fact that the television company had been bumped out of its studio by the National Guard, which had leased out the property since the early days of the television series.

"Any other state of the union would have given us the property for $1 a year," continued Lord. "But not Hawaii. Now we've got to find another location for the indoor sets.

"We probably won't be able to establish another studio in time to start the ninth season on May 10, so we'll have to 'vamp' by going to Hong Kong for a two-parter. Except for one show we filmed partly in California, this will be the first time we have ever shot outside Hawaii."

Unlike some series stars who merely appear on the set and read their lines, Lord has always taken an intense interest in "Hawaii Five-O." Some say his interest was too intense, and the early years of the series were marked by friction between star and production personnel. He nagged for better actors and directors, sharper scripts, fidelity to the McGarrett character.

"Do you realize that we're the longest-running dramatic series in the history of television — after 'Gunsmoke' and 'Bonanza'?" he cited proudly. "When we started out in 1967, we were the only police show on the air. Now there are 23 — which is too many."

Oddly, McGarrett started out to be a detective at one of the big Waikiki hotels. But in the planning stages that concept ran into what Lord called Lafferty's Law — named after its originator, Perry Lafferty, until recently a CBS executive on the West Coast.

"Perry had the theory that the hero of a dramatic series should have life-or-death power over what happens," said Lord. "That seems to hold true, whether the hero is a marshal, a detective or a surgeon."

Lord and his wife Marie were here on one of their four-times-a-year visits. Hawaii is now their home and will be forever, he asserted, despite the inhospitality on the studio rental. "I love the islands; they are so fresh and clean and washed by the gentle rain," he said.

"My only regret is that I can't see Marie for eight months. That's the kind of schedule we have. It's necessary to shoot 24 shows back-to-back without a hiatus. The reason is that we have an entire crew on subsistence, so we can't afford to lay them off.

"When we start a season we must have 13 scripts ready to go. It takes a lot of doing to keep the scripts up to a consistent quality, and I must say that Philip Leacock, the executive producer, and Doug Green, the producer on location, do a fantastic job. We discard one script out of four — actually pay the writer off without using his work. It's better to do that than to do a script we don't believe in."

How much longer can "Hawaii Five-O" continue?

"I'd like to carry it to the tenth year, no longer. What then? I'd like to direct a picture and have responsibility for the whole canvas, not just contributing colors as an actor."

Gold in duck enough for ring

PRAGUE (AP) — A Czech farm worker killed a duck she had been feeding for some weeks for Sunday dinner. When emptying its stomach she saw a curious goldish-colored piece, which she put into her pocket. A trip to the local apothecary confirmed she had enough gold for a ring.

Symphony plans final concert

The San Gabriel Valley Symphony, conducted by Giora Bernstein, will present its final concert of the season in the Citrus College auditorium at 8:30 p.m. May 1.

Admission is $2.50 general, $1.50 for students and senior citizens.

Japanese pianist Azusa Fujita will be soloist, performing Liszt's Concerto No. 1 in E Flat Major.

Miss Fujita began piano studies at four years of age, and at eight, was soloist with the Osaka (Japan) Philharmonic Orchestra. She won numerous awards prior to graduating with highest honors from the Osaka Music Conservatory. After advanced studies in Europe with Bruno Siedlhefer, she joined the faculty of her alma mater. During her frequent concert tours throughout the Orient, she met and married Teng Chang-kuo, symphony orchestra conductor and cultural authority, and moved to Taipei, Taiwan, where she lives with her husband and two sons.

Miss Fujita will share the spotlight with Gail Kubick, Pulitzer Prize-winning composer, who will narrate "Gerald McBoing Boing." Kubick is composer-in-residence and professor of music at Scripps College, where he has been a faculty member since 1970. He won the Pulitzer Prize for "Symphony Concertante," the Heifetz Award, the Chicago Symphony Award, two Guggenheim Fellowships and the Prix de Rome. He will be composer-in-residence this summer at the Rockefeller Foundation's Study and Conference Center in Bellagio, Italy.

The evening's program will also include Gershwin's "American in Paris".

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The networks are determined to make a television star of Don Rickles.

The insult comedian, whose previous efforts at series failed, has been signed by NBC for a comedy project about life in a naval training center. Rickles is cast as a chief petty officer in a script called "Oh Captain! My Captain?" written by Aaron Rubin, former producer of "Sanford and Son."

DINE OUT this EASTER

HOSTESS Tauny Stewart and restaurant manager Michael Humphreys check menu at Cat & Fiddle in preparation for Easter Sunday dinner at Buzz Siler's new Upland restaurant.

GARTH "WOODY" ELLWOOD

Eastertime is here, and whatever you plan in observance of this special Sunday, I hope it is joyful for you and your family.

If your plans include eating out, there are dozens of restaurants in our area ready to help you make this Easter a very special occasion.

Something new is happening, or is about to happen, in LaVerne on Foothill Blvd. Ground was broken for another Lizzy restaurant. Bud Holmes, owner of the firm, on hand for the ground-breaking last Tuesday, said we can expect an August opening. It's located at the corner of Foothill and Bradford and will be the seventh for this growing chain of Model T-motifed restaurants.

Something new is also happening at The Younger Bros. in Chino, according to John Barnett, manager of the nightspot. That's the name of his new rock-top 40s group, plays there nightly. Tuesday nights there are getting to be something else, I understand. John says crowds are flocking to see Donnie Brooks do his Oldies & Goodies thing.

Dinner at Casa de Narod's in Chino last Friday night was very enjoyable for me. The menu selection, the atmosphere and the price are all very palatable. Mar-C, co-owner of the place, dropped by to visit for a while. After I took her picture, the music of "The Four Guys" drew me to the lounge for listening and dancing. Altogether, very relaxing and pleasant.

Joyce Brothers
Problem for lonely

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Since my husband's father died a year ago his mother constantly complains that nobody cares about her anymore. Now she's gotten the idea that she should come and live with us, even though she has her own lovely home. She's only 72 but whenever we say good-bye to her now she mutters something like "This may be the last time you see me alive" or "When I'm dead and gone, you'll be sorry." This upsets my husband but he doesn't want her to live with us, either. — P.O.

Dear P.O.: Rather than openly admitting her loneliness, your mother-in-law is perhaps playing on the family's guilt feelings. Instead of asking your help to improve her situation she chooses to coerce you into inviting her to live with you. She dramatizes each separation, hinting at suicide as revenge for your rejection. However, her veiled threats of suicide should not be ignored or discounted as empty posturing.

High risks for suicide include persons living alone, divorced, separated, or widowed, in poor mental and physical health, and with personality problems in communicating with other people. Research also suggests that very often an unhealthy family situation has placed the person with suicidal impulses on the outside, making him feel unwanted and burdensome. Despair following the loss of a vital personal relationship may also intensify suicidal impulses.

While you resent it and see your mother-in-law's talk of death as an attempt to get her own way, her unhappiness and loneliness are nonetheless real for her. Obviously, she has succeeded in making your husband and you feel guilty and upset. The solution is not to concede to her every wish, but to try to make her feel more secure and wanted.

I suggest bringing the matter out into the open to help cool off emotions. Since she does have her own home, she may be testing you and your willingness to take care of her. Reassuring her that you will always welcome her visits to your home, may help her to be more objective about the wisdom of moving in with you when there is no real need.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My girl is about the most passionate, impulsive person I've ever known. She seems to get a special thrill out of doing very private things in very public places: movie theaters, railroad stations, busy daytime parking lots, you name it. I find this exciting but it is scaring me out of my wits. I'm sure it is illegal. Is it? And am I just inexperienced or does she have a problem? — T.N.

Dear T.N.: Yes, to both questions. Your girl seems not just impulsive, but compulsive. She is engaging in some very danerous practices. Not only is there the "thrill of performing intimate acts in places where she risks exposure, but she may unconsciously want to get caught and punished for her actions. If she keeps on this way, there is a very good chance she will get her unexpressed wish and you both may face even more severe problems. She should seek professional help. But if she won't, you'd better be careful.

Executives' Dinner Club names leaders

Vice presidents will be Mr. and Mrs. William S. Southworth, with Mrs. Glenn Townsend as committee member. Mrs. Helen Boughton and Mrs. Sylvia Roe will be co-secretaries, and Stanton Harrison will serve as treasurer.

New board members are Mrs. Audrey Heeson, Mrs. Bonnie Fuhrman and Donald George. Other board members are Mr. and Mrs. Adolph F. Binder, Stephen C. Poremba, Miss Helen E. Rose, Arthur Younkin and Harold Goodell.

The club holds six dinner meetings annually between October and April. Further information on the group may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Norman Unroe, 622-2861.

MRS. DOROTHY ROSE

Old motto still apt

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) — "Use it up, wear it out, make it do or do without" is still a useful motto for families concerned about stretching their dollars, says Dorothy G. Blackwell, Extension home management specialist at Oklahoma State University.

"Repair, maintenance or remodeling can extend the useful life of your clothes, housing or equipment," she says. "Many of us have let much junk pass through our lives. Buying only really important things and taking care of them might greatly improve the quality of our lives and save scarce resources as well."

Pomonans honored for community work

Delegates

Delegates who will represent Claremont Women's Club at the San Gabriel Valley District, California Federation of Women's Club convention, April 27-29, in Palm Springs, are: Mmes. Robert Jensen, Arthur Smithen, Naomi Campbell and Lewis Craswell.

Attending the federation banquet honoring the Juniors will be Mmes. King Salyer, Stephen Goldwater, Jim Lattin, Ted Mitchell, Robert E. Parker, Mildred Loomis, M. L. Walker and Miss Elizabeth Jones.

Mic-Mac Council and Sequoia Tribe feted the two officers and Mayor Ray Lepire of Pomona presented them with an achievement award from the city council for their outstanding.

Estrada-Webb vows repeated

Miss Toni A. Webb of Upland and Maynerd M. Estrada of Ontario were married in the Chapel in the Wildwood in Upland.

MRS. MAYNERD ESTRADA

The daughter of Mrs. Harry Webb of Upland and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Estrada were married in a late morning ceremony by the Rev. Ralph A. Bigalow.

Honor attendant was Miss Gerri Watson of Ontario. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Patty Estrada of San Bernardino and Mrs. Gerri Estrada of Rialto.

Standing as best man was Eugene Estrada II of Rialto. Ushers were Randy Gardner of Ontario and Richard Estrada of San Bernardino.

Flower girl was Elixa Fowers of Upland.

Following the rite, a reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Fowers. The couple honeymooned at Catalina Island and on the Queen Mary and are now at home in Ontario.

Female engineers take center stage

NEW YORK (AP) — Though they account for only 1 or 2 per cent of practicing engineers, women are beginning to make themselves felt in the profession of engineering — especially at the Polytechnic Institute of New York.

While only 5 per cent of the Institute's students are women, this represents a five-fold increase in the female enrollment over the last 10 years.

Family Circus

Decorating techniques expand room visually

Custom touches and accents make the difference between plain and exciting rooms, especially in family or living areas where much of the activity of a family centers.

The extras that give a room a special feeling can be boldly stated with innovative architecture or decoration, with subtle accents that add richness, or with clever storage ideas hidden from view.

As rising costs put more of a premium on space in each room, use of decorating techniques can expand a room visually, as one family found in their cozy combination family-dining room.

Ceiling Slope Helps

On the end wall opposite the dining area, the hearth wall above the fireplace also is stark white, but is flanked by vertical accent panels of random length 1x4-inch western cedar boards, proportioned to the wall's width.

The rough-sawn boards, with a clear finish for full enjoyment of the wood's texture and range of warm, rich colors, add the custom look that is hard to obtain with other materials.

Frame Adds Accent

Another subtly stated accent is the double frame of mitred 1x6-inch Douglas fir boards surrounding the fireplace. Again, the boards were only lightly stained to retain a natural feeling.

Lightly scaled furniture finished white was placed along the wall to enhance the openness. To offset all this white, a multi-colored shag rug was used in the center of the room and a large, colorful painting with a slim frame was placed over the fireplace.

Pots and plants

Being able to spot hazards to plants

By Janet Tara
(Eighth of a Series)

Moving to a new location is usually hard on your plants, particularly if they make the trip in a hot, stuffy, lightless truck. If possible, don't move your plants on the same day that you move your furniture. Try to leave them with a friend before the actual moving day or bring them to the new house before the move. They can easily be damaged during all the commotion.

While a bright sunny kitchen can look like a good place to keep plants, it can also be filled with hazards and potential death for plants.

Plants don't like gas, stove heat or the extremes of heat from the stove and cold air from a winter window. The conflict is more than most plants can bear. One side dries out from the high stove heat and the other side freezes from contact with a cold window and the inevitable winter drafts. If you keep a window open in the winter to help air circulation in the kitchen, don't put any plants in front of it.

Even if your plant is away from the stove and not too close to a window, be sure not to hang it too high. Heat rises in any room, and in a kitchen there is more heat and less air circulation even with a high ceiling.

Bathrooms, on the other hand, can be wonderful places to keep plants. The high humidity from showers and baths helps create ideal humidity conditions for most plants. Just make sure they get enough light if you have frosted or tinted bathroom windows.

(NEXT: Warning signals.)

Gardeners check list

On established roses, a monthly feeding will help increase the quantity and quality of bloom. Special, ready-to-use rose food is available at nurseries.

Keep after snails and slugs with pellets, bait or liquid controls.

Give lawns a spring feeding now. They will green-up within a week of being fed. Your nurseryman can recommend the proper lawn food for the type of turf you have.

April is a big month for planting summer-flowering annuals from nursery flats, pony paks, and cell paks. Loosen the roots a bit before planting annuals to insure good root growth into the native soil.

Primrose plants may be divided as soon as they complete their blooming for the season.

Nurseries have a good selection of citrus now, and offer the varieties best for local conditions. Feature dwarf oranges and lemon in tubs on the patio or around the pool area.

Container-grown roses, if not already in bloom, will be very shortly. These blooming roses will enable gardeners to select the exact shades of color and flower forms they wish to add to their gardens.

April is a favorable time to plant new lawns. Choose the correct lawn variety for your climate and family needs.

Plant tomatoes for summer harvest. Be sure to give tomatoes plenty of sun and prune off sucker growth that keeps the plant vegetative rather than in bloom and fruit.

Pinch fuchsias frequently as they grow. This encourages shrubbier growth and more bloom, in that they flower on this new growth.

Set-out dahlia tubers this week and make another planting of gladiolus bulbs. This will assure you of having more glads for cutting and provide lovely color in the early summer garden.

African Violet Society passes out awards

Mrs. Clara Robson came in third with "Blue Dolphin."

Floral show scheduled next week

Las Artistas de Flores will feature more than 75 compositions at their annual flower arrangement and artistic design show on April 22 and 23 in the San Marino Masonic Temple, 3130 Huntington Drive, San Marino. The event will be open to the public on Thursday from 1 to 9 p.m. and on Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tickets may be obtained at the door. Donation is $1.75. There is ample free parking to the west of the building. Cameras are permitted.

A donation will be made to Childrens Hospital of Los Angeles from a portion of the proceeds.

Las Artistas de Flores is a club whose membership includes both amateur and professional flower arrangers from throughout Southern California.

Mrs. John Warren of Glendora is planning a special oriental composition for the tokonoma. Mrs. Ray Boeger of Seal Beach is in charge of stage decoration. Serving as president is Mrs. Charles Bader of Pomona.

Tidal salt marsh being returned to marine life

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Three men in orange jumpsuits and high rubber boots ride a bulldozer-drawn sled across the gooey mud of San Francisco Bay like mechanized rice paddy workers, carefully planting sprigs of cordgrass.

They are putting the finishing touches on a $1.1 million federal project to reestablish a 110-acre tidal salt marsh beside Alameda Creek near the city 25 miles southeast of San Francisco.

"You can think of a marsh as a forest of the shoreline. It's a nursery for all kinds of marine life," said Paul P. Knutson, a botanist working on the project for the U.S. Corps of Engineers.

"It may be the most significant thing I ever do in my life," said the bearded Knutson, 30.

Earthen dikes were erected years ago to turn the area into an evaporation pond to collect salt from the water. Now the dikes have been breached, and the experiment is aimed at learning the most efficient, economical and rapid method for returning such land to its natural state.

There are about 200 individual test plots where various types of vegetation have been planted since the project began three years ago.

"In 15 acres of lower marsh, we're trying numerous different methods of growing cordgrass and pickleweed from sprigs and seed," Knutson said in an interview.

"In five acres of upper marsh, where the tides reach only infrequently, we're seeding eight different plant species, such as brass button, curley dock and salt grass," he added. Scientists plan to observe how the balance of the acreage does on its own.

"This test area should tell just about more information than anyone needs to know about how to build a marsh," Knudsen said.

The Corps of Engineers became involved because it needed some place to dispose of the dredge material from a nearby flood control project. It also wanted to see if something could be done about compensating for the marsh area which the flood control work would wipe out.

Already the revitalized marsh is being heavily used by birds as feeding grounds.

"Sandpipers show up here in flocks of thousands," said Knutson. "You can see egrets over there, and willits and herons. The mud is full of polychete worms and lots of little fish called salt water gobies — that's what the herons are feeding on."

The results of the experiment eventually will be published as a guide for governmental agencies and conservation groups interested in salt marsh reclamation, Knutson said.

He reported inquires have already been received from the states of Washington, Oregon and Georgia, as well as communities throughout the San Francisco Bay area.

15 breathe fumes from spilled acid

LONE PINE (AP) — About 15 persons were treated and released at a local hospital after breathing fumes from hydroflouric acid spilled in a truck accident, authorities said.

The chemical was spilled on the roadway Tuesday between Beatty, Nev. and this community when a truck-trailer rig driven by Roy Smith, 21, of Shafter, overturned.

Authorities said ambulance attendants, highway patrolmen, park service officers and sheriff's deputies were taken to the hospital for treatment and observation. None were admitted. The chemical used to etch glass can cause skin irritation and respiratory problems, doctors said.

Cause of the accident was under investigation.

PUBLIC NOTICE

RESOLUTION DECLARING INTENTION TO SELL REAL PROPERTY BELONGING TO THE BONITA UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT AND NOTICE INVITING BIDS TO PURCHASE SAME

RESOLVED, that in accordance with Education Code Sections 16051 — 16065, the Board of Education of the Bonita Unified School District, County of Los Angeles, in an open meeting on April 6, 1976, by a two-thirds vote of all its members, hereby declared its intention to sell to the highest bidder the following described property of the Bonita Unified School District in the County of Los Angeles, State of California, which is a small triangular lot south of 8th Street and West of "F".

".22 acres, more or less, commencing at the most southerly corner of Lot 13, then 18 degrees 28' east to southwesterly line of unnamed street (8th Street) per E-89-291, then northwesterly thereon 150' then south 18 degrees 28' to southwesterly line of said lot, then southeasterly to beginning point of Lot 13."

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that said Board hereby finds that the real property described above is not needed for school purposes.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the terms for this sale shall be as follows:

1. The minimum acceptable bid is $7,500.
2. The property will be sold for cash.
3. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check for not less than ten percent (10%) of the amount of the bid, made payable to the order of the Bonita Unified School District, as a guarantee that the bidder will complete the purchase upon acceptance of his bid, and will be declared forfeited if the successful bidder refuses to complete the purchase after being requested to do so by this Board.
4. Oral bids will be called for and received at such public session pursuant to Education Code Section 16061, provided they are made by responsible persons, and are for a price exceeding by at least five percent (5%) of the highest of any written proposals received.
5. The Board also reserves the right to require any oral bidder at such public session to deposit forthwith at that public session a certified or cashier's check for not less than ten percent (10%) of the amount of the oral bid, made payable to the Bonita Unified School District, as a guarantee that the bidder will complete the purchase upon acceptance of his bid, and will be declared forfeited if the succesful bidder refuses to complete the purchase after being requested to do so by this Board.
6. In accord with Education Code Section 16057, the school district will pay a commission of not to exceed 6% of the sales price to a licensed broker or combination of brokers representing the bidder who submits the highest written proposal, except that if the sale shall be made on a higher oral bid the commission shall be paid as provided in Education Code Section 16062.
7. No commission will be paid by the District unless the sale is consummated by the District and the successful bidder. No commission shall be paid unless there is contained in, or with, the sealed proposal, or stated in, or with, the oral bid, which is finally accepted the name of the licensed real estate broker to whom it is to be paid and the amount or rate thereof. The amount of the commission, if any, shall be deducted in determining the highest reponsible bid.
8. The guarantee deposit of ten percent (10%) of the amount of the accepted bid accompanying the bid as specified above will be deposited in escrow and will be included in the purchase price. Length of the escrow period will be ninety (90) days; the escrow company to be selected by this Board. All escrow costs other than the cost of policy of title insurance will be divided equally between the seller and buyer.
9. Title will be conveyed to said parcel by grant deed, together with the usual policy of title insurance showing the above described property free and clear in the purchaser except for easements and encumbrances of record.
10. The Board reserves the right to accept or reject any and all bids, either written or oral, and to withdraw such property from sale and waive any informalities of irregularity in the bidding.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that a public meeting of the Board of Education of the Bonita Unified School District to be held at its usual place of meeting in the Education Center at 115 West Allen Avenue, San Dimas, California on April 27, 1976, at which time and place sealed bids will be opened and considered together with oral bids in accordance with Education Code Sections 16060-16061 and 16062. Bids may be mailed or delivered to the Business Office, 115 West Allen Avenue, San Dimas, California until 5:00 p.m. on April 27, 1976.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that this notice of intention to sell the property described in the foregoing resolution shall be posted and published as provided in Section 16058 of the Education Code.

PUBLICATION: This notice shall be published once a week for three successive weeks prior to said meeting in a newspaper of general circulation, and shall be posted in three public places in the District, not less than fifteen (15) days before the date of the meeting.

A Message To CLASSIFIED AD USERS

You are about to invest money for an Ad and you are entitled to get results. To accomplish this, it is necessary for you TO TELL ALL about the details of your offer. Be sure you don't make any of the following errors that prevent results.

Readers can't guess on important details. Remember, a well written informative ad will get results faster and cost less in the long run.

1. Don't Omit The Address

Many out-of-town readers will write you but will not spend money for a long distance call.

2. Don't Omit The Phone Number

Many readers will call you but do not find it convenient to come to your home.

3. Don't Use Blind Box Numbers

4. Don't Conceal The Price

5. Don't leave Home On The Days You Advertise

Many good prospects will not call the second time if your phone is unanswered.
